U.S. BACKS LUMUMBA ARREST

Special Team Readies 'Aid'

GRASS-ROOTS TASK FORCE EYES REDEVELOPMENT

Charleston, W. Va. (AP) — A special grass-roots committee of business and labor representatives will give to President-elect John F. Kennedy by New Year's day its recommendations for a vast area redevelopment program.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., heading the 21-man task force, said the group would meet by subcommittees next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Washington, then convene again Dec. 27 to formalize the over-all recommendations.

Douglas told newsmen after the 5-hour closed session of the committee Friday that legislation for a comprehensive redevelopment program would be ready for introduction by the time Congress convenes.

Takes Time

"Let's not forget that it will take some time to pass an area redevelopment bill and to set up administrative machinery and to process loans," he said.

"But some emergency measures can be acted on immediately through executive order. The present administration, I think, has not taken advantage of the wide powers of the presidency."

Friday's meeting of the committee was almost wholly organizational. The group was broken down into 6 subcommittees to study and make recommendations on area development, food distribution and unemployment compensation, West Virginia's depressed areas, international trade, handling of government contracts and special problems of the labor force.

Critical

Douglas said because of the rather critical conditions in West Virginia, the state undoubtedly would receive authority to carry out pilot programs.

"West Virginia is a most conspicuous example of what the committee is faced with," he said. "But there are also other areas in critical shape. Among them are Southern Illinois, Kentucky and Pennsylvania; the textile areas of New England, and other areas where natural resources have been exhausted, such as around the Great Lakes."

Kennedy named the committee to recommend ways of helping depressed areas.

EDUCATORS TOLD:

Must Use Children's Potentials

By Gerry Deal

The schools must develop the rational potentialities of each pupil in the rapidly-changing world of today and the future, Nebraska State Education Assn. delegates to the 94th meeting of the Delegate Assembly were told Friday.

Dr. James E. Russell, executive secretary of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Assn. from Washington, D.C., stated, "The man who best achieves his own dignity in the future is a rational man."

"Our children will not be free if their rational potentials are not developed," he said.

"Need Broader Base" NSEA President Jesse E. Shedd of Gering, in his report, emphasized the need for a broadened tax base in Nebraska.

"What we need and what we must fight for is a broadened tax base to help support education. . . . I see a ray of hope in the not too distant future. May this Delegate Assembly and everyone in the future push toward such a goal," he said.

The following two additional resolutions were presented Friday:

—That a memorial to the late Gov. Ralph G. Brooks be spread upon the minutes of the Delegate Assembly as a part of its permanent record.

—That the NSEA Executive Committee or its appointee draw up annually a brief containing the results of enacting proposed resolutions and recommendations and the perspective from which they were formed; such brief to be issued well in advance of the Delegate Assembly for the purpose of providing vital information for the intelligent consideration of such proposals, resolutions, etc.

A Serene Setting In The Odell Hills

Modern Day Shepherd Watches Flock By Night

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Odell—It's not really a Christmas card painting, but for a moment you wonder.

The shepherd's staff, the bleating lambs and especially the long gray beard—surely this must be the hills of Bethlehem, you think.

Then you realize you're 6 miles northwest of Odell in Gage County, and you find out the bewhiskered gent—sure enough a shepherd—is J. P. Jackson.

"I love sheep and I've had 'em most of the time since I was a kid of 6 or 7 in old Kentucky," explained the modern-day herdsman, whose beard hides a face younger than its 61 years.

Despite their grayness, the curly whiskers themselves are much newer. Their origin was the Beatrice Centennial of 4 years ago.

Keeps Face Warm

"Last day I shaved was the 26th of February, 1957. First 3 weeks, the itching was terrible but I've liked the whiskers ever since," Jackson continued. "My face is the only part of me that's warm in winter, and in summer the beard keeps sweat from rolling down the neck."

Like the Christmas-time predecessors who watched flocks before him, the farmer has more of a practical than sentimental interest in sheep. A raiser of registered Shropshires in Ohio before coming here 9 years ago, he is especially familiar with the animals' economic advantages.

"It takes 7 sheep to eat as much as one cow, and the initial investment is much less," he reasoned. "Besides that, last year's taxes were based on $6 per head for my sheep. If I had cattle, they'd probably be valued at $150 or more."

It's partly because of Nebraska taxes that Jackson, father of 9 children from ages 8 to 25, is planning to sell his 160 acres and move to Missouri.

"Seems like I always have to work on Sundays here to keep going," he remarked, "and I've never done that before and don't believe in it."

It isn't always Christmas shepherds that are suggested by Jackson's whiskers, especially when he is seen off the farm. The common street greeting from youngsters this time of year is "Hello, Santa."

Hammaraskjold Gives Order: Defend Whites

... U.N. Congo Force Told To Resist

By Milton Besser

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States Friday night gave its full support to the arrest of deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba and called on all members of the United Nations to back President Joseph Kasavubu.

The U.S. position was outlined by Ambassador James J. Wadsworth. He spoke before the U.N. Security Council as it grappled with the latest Congo crisis in the face of threats by Lumumba supporters to take mass reprisals against whites in Oriental Province for the arrest of the former premier.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold disclosed that he had warned the authorities in Oriental Province that the U.N. Congo force would resist any violence against whites seeking protection from threats to kill or injure them.

Planned Power Grab

Wadsworth said it was widely understood that Lumumba was preparing a power grab to unseat Kasavubu when he was seized by the forces of Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu. He added that "the Soviet Union's anger in calling this meeting is explainable only because this plan, which they supported, did not succeed."

The U.S. delegate repeated charges that the Soviet Union is doing everything it can to gain control of the Congo. "The motives of the USSR," he said, "are reprehensible."

Beheading Of Whites Threatened

SEEK RELEASE OF LUMUMBA

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP) — Terrified white women and children Friday fled to sanctuary behind U.N. bayonets in Stanleyville, where rebel leaders threaten to behead Belgian hostages.

The Stanleyville supporters of Patrice Lumumba declared they would begin killing hostages unless the leftist ex-premier was released by the Congolese Army.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville said its latest reports showed 75 whites so far had sought shelter in a school building taken over as a refuge for frightened Europeans. Two battalions of U.N. Ethiopian troops guard the building.

A mass evacuation of Europeans by air from Stanleyville also is under study, the U.N. command reported. About 1,000 whites, 80% of them Belgians, live in Stanleyville. Two Americans, 18 Britons and a number of Germans, French and Greeks are among the other whites there.

Gen. Ngashy Iyassu of Ethiopia, chief of staff of the U.N. forces, flew to Stanleyville to take charge of the rescue operation.

U.N. officials refused to say whether the 1,800 Ethiopians in that capital of Oriental Province were empowered to use force if Lumumba's backers tried to seize the White refugees.

The rebel dictatorship in Stanleyville threatened to behead only Belgians, but it warned it would round up all whites unless Lumumba was freed.

The ultimatum was sent by cable to Col. Joseph Mobutu, the army strongman who tries to rule the Congo from Leopoldville.

The rebels claim Mobutu is a puppet of the Belgian government. Mobutu now holds Lumumba under guard at Thysville, 80 miles from Leopoldville.

Its accusations are self-serving and unworthy of serious consideration."

Wadsworth said the United States understands very well the Soviet reasons for trying to disarm the Mobutu forces and "to force upon the Congolese people other leaders more amenable to Soviet purposes."

"The United States," he added, "has not the slightest intention of giving way to these Soviet pressures. We think this Council and the General Assembly have made their positions equally clear."

The U.N. secretary-general made his statement about the use of force in a report on the threat of Oriental Province authorities at Stanleyville to arrest all whites and behead some of them unless the Congolese Army released Lumumba within 48 hours.

Hammarskjold disclosed the protest in a report released in advance of a session of the U.N. Security Council on the explosive situation in the Congo. The Soviet Union is demanding that the Council instruct Hammarskjold to obtain Lumumba's immediate release.

He is being held at Thysville, 80 miles from the Congo capital of Leopoldville, by the army of Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo strongman.

Terrified Europeans were under protection of U.N. bayonets in a Stanleyville school house accommodating 500 persons, and arrangements were under way to provide evacuation by air of all who wish to leave.

Cooks Create Beef Bonanza

By Gene Budig

Milford — It was still dark when frost-coated cars started to converge on the Bert Stutzman farm here Friday.

By sunrise, 70 sets of chattering teeth had huddled for the final briefing at the storage shed.

A shrill whistle of steam from the giant pots near the shed sent the group scrambling to their stations.

Operation "Feed Foreign Friends" was launched.

Facing the still heavy-eyed Mennonites from nearly a 70-mile radius were more than 6,000 pounds of raw beef.

The beef was to be chopped, cooked and canned by 6 o'clock at night.

Beat Deadline

And, it was (with 30 minutes to spare). The spirited workers, ignoring icy blasts, kept the cannery-on-wheels puffing.

Rented only for a day, the roving cannery makes 200 such stops for the Mennonite Church throughout the country.

Supervisors accompany the big outfit.

There were no lunch hours for the volunteers, one earmuff clad supervisor said. Only 10 to 15 minute breaks were taken.

Give to Needy

The canned beef will be distributed to foreign nations according to need.

From here, the cans were shipped to the Mennonite storage house at Newton, Kan.

The Mennonites planned a supper after the tiresome canning ordeal.

The menu? "Anything but beef," several women said.

In an unusual 4-3 decision, the Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed itself on a $20,000 Omaha accident suit. For Supreme Court stories see pages 7 and 8.

Havana (AP)—Several hundred members of the Havana Electric Workers Union marched on the presidential palace Friday night protesting what they called Communist infiltration of their Union.

The group marched into the palace square carrying their leader, union secretary Amaury Fragnals, on their shoulders and shouting: "Cuba a si, Russia, no."

Many shouted for Prime Minister Fidel Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos to receive their delegation and hear their complaint.

Clash Feared

Some union officials said they feared an open clash between Fragnals' supporters and a pro-Communist bloc within the union.

The Red block Friday issued a formal statement accusing Fragnals and his followers of responsibility for recent sabotage at electrical installations.

The crowd dispersed after Dorticos invited Fragnals and 7 of his supporters into the palace for a conference.

Detained

Two news photographers were detained by Castro authorities at the height of the demonstration.

The government-controlled newspapers published statements issued through the Leftist-oriented Cuban Confederation of Labor vigorously attacking Fragnals. His supporters countered by ordering a boycott of a union rally called for Friday night.

The electrical workers have scheduled a general election for Dec. 18.

Level Charge

Fragnals' group distributed handbills charging the labor federation called a general assembly of the electric workers union Friday night "under the pretext to judge and condemn acts of sabotage in order to interrupt the electoral process and get rid of the present (electric workers union) leaders."

French Algerians Riot Against De Gaulle

Barricades Are Flattened By Tanks

... SCORES INJURED

Algiers (AP) — Rebellious European Algerians rioted angrily Friday defying President Charles de Gaulle, as he started touring this revolt-torn land to drum up support for his plan of self-determination for Algeria.

At least 100 persons were hurt in a day of stone-throwing and head-cracking. About 400 were arrested. Here in Algiers, Army tanks flattened barricades erected in an effort to recreate the perilous siege of last January.

De Gaulle, back on Algerian soil but far from the violence here, scorned it, saying in the town of Ain Temouchent:

"Shouts, noise — that signifies nothing. Facts, clarity, good sense are what we should show and not a devotion to outdated slogans and formulas."

5 More Days

Nevertheless, there was fear that Friday's demonstrations were only a start. De Gaulle's tour has 5 days to go and some Frenchmen openly expressed fear for his safety.

Last January the Europeans at their barricade almost overthrew De Gaulle. They want Algeria to remain a French territory. At the other end of the political spectrum, Moslem Nationalists want to make Algeria an independent nation. De Gaulle seems hopeful of obtaining a solution somewhere between the extremes.

At nightfall, Algiers looked as if it had been the scene of a full-scale battle. The fighting still raged after dark, with riot troops lobbing tear gas grenades into groups of demonstrators.

Torrential Rain Falls

Finally, a torrential rain and a 14-minute tear gas bombardment drove the demonstrators away and relative quiet settled over the city.

Clearly, authorities did not intend to let the situation get out of hand. Some 400 people were herded off to jail and authorities announced most of these would be taken off to internment camps in the hot southern area of Algeria.

There is general agreement that unless the Army sides with rioters, the rioting cannot succeed in its purpose and the army showed no sympathy Friday, as it did in January.

TEACHERS ADVISED TO GET ORDERLY PROGRAMS

"As teachers, we should get our political and educational programs in order."

That was the challenge the state's teachers received Friday night from a University of Nebraska Teachers' College professor of school administration and history and principles of education.

Dr. Wesley C. Meierhenry told the Delegate Assembly of the Nebraska State Education Assn. in Lincoln that the United States should become as aware as possible of increased industrial output, and stress living by its ethical standards.

Only half the world's 1.2 billion children get an opportunity for education, Dr. Meierhenry said. He was one of 37 American delegates to the recent Amsterdam conference of the World Confederation of the Teaching Profession. The NSEA paid part of his expenses.

Vote Scheduled

The convention will act Saturday on a recommendation that the present 6 district sessions of the NSEA convention be retained. The idea of a single convention, discussed earlier this year, received strong support from Omaha, but great opposition from out-state areas.

Among resolutions to be considered Saturday are those favoring federal aid to education without any federal control, "direct or indirect," and a modification of teacher certification.

Nominees for 1961 NSEA president are D. E. Nelson, Schuyler superintendent, and L. L. Patterson, superintendent at Cozad, Madison County Supt. Mrs. Anne Campbell and Kearney Junior High School Principal Donald Prather are nominees for vice president.

Elected officers will be introduced at Saturday's session of the 2-day meeting.

Also on Saturday's agenda is action on the proposed resolutions.

Presidents of the Nebraska County Superintendents Assn., the Nebraska Department of Elementary School Principals, the Nebraska Department of Classroom Teachers, the Nebraska Assn. of School Administrators and the Student Education Assn. will also give reports.

CLOUDS MAY BRING RAIN

The possibility of rain in the southern part of the state was forecast for Saturday under increasingly cloudy skies.

High readings are expected to range in the 30s Saturday. Saturday night forecasts were for light snow in northern Nebraska and rain or snow in the south.

Scottsbluff reported light ice crystals and ground fog Friday, with other stations reporting partly cloudy, cloudy and foggy weather.

High reading in the state Friday was 47 at Imperial and North Platte, with Scottsbluff reporting 26. Lincoln had a 40-degree high.

Wyoming Solon, Thomson, Dies

Cody, Wyo. (AP) — U.S. Rep. and Senator-elect Keith Thomson, R-Wyo., died of an apparent heart attack Friday.

Thomson was at the home of Ken Bailey, a public accountant and a long-time personal friend.

Two physicians, Dr. Cedric J. Jones, Thomson's personal doctor, and Dr. Dewett Dominick said Thomson died at about 2:30 p.m.

Thomson's death will allow Gov. Joe Hickey, a Democrat, to appoint a successor. Hickey does not have to appoint a Republican. The appointee will serve for two years until a qualified successor is elected at a general election.

Thomson's wife and 3 sons were in Washington when he died.

Senators Meet Monday To Enact Salary Hikes

By Virgil Falloon

The Nebraska Legislature convenes Monday in special session to enact salary increase for the 1961 session beginning Jan. 3.

The pre-Christmas session will convene at 2 p.m. under the gavel of Speaker Harry Pizer of North Platte.

On Nov. 8 Nebraska voters approved a constitutional amendment authorizing $200-a-month salaries ($2,400 annually) for the state's 43 senators. Present pay is $842 annually.

Gov. Dwight Burney called the special session after informing the Legislature in mid-November, then sitting as the Legislative Council, that a salary bill would be required yet this year to put the authorized increase into effect for the 1961 session.

The salary bill, plus a bill for expenses of the extraordinary session — the second in 5 months — will be the only items taken up.

Enactment of the salary clause so it will become effective upon signing by the governor, will require a minimum of 7 days.

Sixteen "lame duck" senators — who will not return to the 1961 session — will be eligible to vote on the salary bill. However, two — Sens. George F. Fulton of Beatrice and Oliver O. Olinger of Tekamah — are expected to be absent.

Legislature Clerk Hugo Srb outlined this minimum time schedule that would be required.

The salary bill would be introduced on Monday, and with a suspension of the rules requiring 29 affirmative votes, would be placed on general file.

Five legislative days must then intervene before a vote can be taken; this would be the following Monday.

—the Legislature would ad-journal until notified that the enacted bill had been signed by governor, probably minutes later.

—during the 5 legislative days, the Legislature would mark time by convening at least for a few minutes each day before adjourning.

While no other legislation can be enacted, the senators could sit as a Legislative Council to discuss other items.

Sen. Richard Marvel, chairman of the Council's committee on higher education, has indicated that a preliminary report on the recommendations and findings by Dr. Lyman A. Glenny, director of a $25,000 study, may be presented during the week.

Also, the remaining two of the 6 staff reports on higher education probably will be presented. These two deal with student affairs and instructional programs. Already presented were those on enrollments, economics, faculties and plant utilization.

LAFB Team Will Explain Atlas To Site Communities

A 3-man team of Strategic Air Command Atlas Missile Site experts from Lincoln Air Force Base is scheduled to address a dozen or more public meetings beginning Thursday in cities and towns adjacent to the 12 Atlas Missile Sites now under construction in southeastern Nebraska.

The purpose of the tour as announced by Col. Thomas G. Corbin, Commander of the 818th Air Division at Lincoln Air Force Base, is to give the people of Nebraska a first-hand account of the Strategic Air Command's newest weapon system, the giant Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

Along with Col. Corbin on the speaking tour will be Lt. Col. Frederick H. Marsh, the 818th Air Division Missile Officer, and Fred J. Childress of the Convair Astronautics Corporation.

The 3-man presentation which includes color slides and 16mm sound movies, followed by an open question and answer period, is designed to provide local citizens with all the information that can be given them. This includes a brief history of the development of the Atlas and its subsequent assembly-line production for the Air Force; how the Atlas is used by SAC in

Need For Authority To Settle Use Of Missouri River Seen

Sidney (P)—An Army engineer declared Friday "if the various interests who have been at loggerheads over use and distribution of Missouri River water can't settle the issues between themselves, then someone or somebody's authority will be installed."

The solution in that case, suggested Col. H. G. Woodbury Jr., "could lead to more dissatisfaction than was evident in the first place."

Woodbury, Omaha district Army engineer, told the joint meeting of the Nebraska Irrigation and Reclamation Assns. he wasn't in the Missouri Basin more than a few days "when I heard vociferous arguments over water uses."

"True, it isn't hard to find an argument with such built-in conflicts as power-irrigation-navigation-flood control-recreation and so on," said Woodbury. "It's like a new toy, the kids think it's fine but fail to realize that everybody can't use it at once."

"The Missouri River dams are multiple-purpose in nature, not single purpose," the colonel added. "There is sufficient water to serve all needs but there is not and never will be enough water to serve an exclusive need to the detriment of other multiple purpose benefits."

Col. Woodbury told the irrigation and reclamation men that two important Nebraska projects—those in the Salt-Wahoo and Gering valleys—will depend on government approval of plans submitted by the Engineers, and the speed with which appropriations are forthcoming.

There are a number of projects in the Elkhorn River Basin which are authorized, but not under way because of local cooperation, he said. These include levee improvements at Waterloo, West Point, Pierce, Tilden and Norfolk.

Commissioner Floyd E. Dorn of the Bureau of Reclamation suggested there ought to be a reappraisal of federal policy on reimbursement for federal projects.

Under the present law, he said in an interview, those benefitted by reclamation projects have to reimburse the government for the projects. And federally produced power also is paid for.

But flood control and navigation projects are not reimbursable, he said.

Dominy said there should be a more definite national policy as to how recreational use of reclamation projects is paid for.

A re-evaluation of the term "normal water supply" in the irrigated sections of Nebraska may be forthcoming, says Dominy.

He said that although water supplies in the North Platte irrigation project this year were about 70% of normal, crop yields apparently didn't suffer.

"In fact, sugar beets gained as the roots reached for moisture, and a 17-ton average was the result in many areas," he said.

Water Groups Select Adams, Kjar As Heads

Sidney (P)—James C. Adams of North Platte was advanced from first vice president to president of the Nebraska Irrigation Assn. Friday.

The Nebraska Reclamation Assn., in joint convention with the irrigation group, re-elected Albert A. Kjar of Lexington as president.

Arthur C. Johnson of Kearney was named first vice president of the irrigation group, with Glen Beeline of Ord, elected second vice president, and Stan Matzke of Hastings re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The Reclamation Assn. picked C. P. Shaughnessy of St. Paul as vice president and Mrs. Willa Ingraham of Lincoln as secretary-treasurer. C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln was re-named executive director.

He said it is difficult to visualize a world with too much food—when the population explosion is considered.

"And of course in world terms there isn't. But the lack of distribution of food among all peoples of the world is well known to all of you."

He said if all the world's grain production were to be distributed equally among the people of the world, there would be 310 pounds per person, providing 1,500 calories daily to each.

Need Solutions To Food Demand, Ag Income—Frolik

Sidney (P)—Dean E. F. Frolik of the Nebraska College of Agriculture said Friday that two opposite but related problems must be solved: Meeting the world demand for food, and giving the American farmer his share of the national income.

Dr. Frolik spoke at the joint annual convention of the Nebraska Irrigation Assn. and the Nebraska Reclamation Assn.

He said it is difficult to visualize a world with too much food—when the population explosion is considered.

"And of course in world terms there isn't. But the lack of distribution of food among all peoples of the world is well known to all of you."

First Nebraska Corporation Formation Urged By Uerling

Minden (P)—Fred Evans, Arapahoe, will represent District 5 as a vice president of the Nebraska State Chamber of Commerce.

He is a past vice president of the United South Platte Chambers of Commerce and the organization's present secretary.

The USPCC meeting heard Charles Uerling, Hastings, urge formation of a First Nebraska Corporation using private capital to help industry that is now undercapitalized.

He said such a corporation also could help attract new industry where such industry might not be able to meet financial requirements that may be expected to be incorporated in the industry-getting bill provided by the industrial development amendment.

The USPCC board gave approval to the $67,000 budget requested by State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan for continuation of the vegetable research program.

The board also agreed to a request by State Sen. Kenneth Bowen, Red Cloud, that the organization present its ideas on congressional redistricting prior to the Legislature session opening in January.

McCartney Is Bound Over On 3 Charges

Fremont (P)—Jean F. McCartney was bound over to District Court Friday on 3 charges growing out of the shooting of a Fremont farm manager.

McCartney previously had pleaded innocent to the charges, shooting with intent to kill, shooting with intent to wound and assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

At Friday's preliminary hearing, Justice of the Peace Max Powell continued McCartney's $10,000 bond.

McCartney, 36, is accused of shooting Albert Nore, 51, the night of Nov. 4.

Mrs. Nore Testifies

Mrs. Nore, wife of the wounded man, testified Friday about events the night of the shooting.

Another witness, Kenneth Laurs, a neighbor of the Nores, said he saw a station wagon drive away following the shooting. He said he recognized the car as McCartney's and was sure in his own mind that the driver was McCartney.

McCartney is a one-time New York singer who has conducted a large farming operation near Fremont.

Some Good Leftovers

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Any fellow dealing with the printed word who didn't end up at the end of the week with a few ideas remotely tucked away in the back of his head would be in pretty bad shape. But while you like to have these spares around, you seldom get the opportunity to use them because things of greater significance invariably crowd out the smaller jewels.

So the only way to give them life is to abandon such things as the Congo, the filling of a new national administration's cabinet, bulging state budget requests and a multitude of other heavy and somber ideas. In doing so, you get a chance, for instance, to say something about those lovable little creations, parking meters. Downtown merchants have suggested that the meters be free on Thursday nights. Probably this isn't a bad idea and certainly there is an aspect of it that needs attention. The meters in the main part of the downtown area are generally pretty well used on Thursday evenings but many meter spaces go begging.

Meters on the fringe areas, particularly those of half-hour time limits, are not used at nights because they fail completely to serve any purpose. The short-time meter outside the main section of downtown is supposed to serve business adjacent to it, or better, the desires of the public wishing to patronize this business.

But many of these businesses are not the kind of retailers who stay open on Thursday nights or any evenings. Certainly, the half-hour meters around the Post Office are wasted at night because that facility is closed at night and the half-hour limit is too short for doing business any place else. Meters are designed to improve parking facilities and traffic movement, not to bring in revenue, and this purpose should not be lost sight of.

Downtown interests are also in the midst of a small dispute over the route of Lincoln City Lines buses. Some interests want the buses routed out of town over P Street and others want them sent out over O Street. Obviously, there is a north and south of O division of interests in this debate. We are north of O and so will be accused of our own selfish interest but we are used to this, despite the fact that bus service is not of significance to us as a company.

But the use of P Street would provide a broader scope of service than the narrower confinement to just N Street inbound and

O Street outbound. There is considerable industrial and retail activity north of P which needs service, as does the University of Nebraska. Also, if downtown is to develop economically and efficiently, it should have some growth to the north as well as the south and east — the directions of emphasis in recent years. The claim that P Street offers too few possible loading and unloading zones is just a pipe dream, as anyone can tell simply by looking at the area. Buses on P Street makes twice as good sense as they would on O Street because of congestion, service and future growth needs.

Meters, buses, etc. — all of these things are evidence of the fact that the times are constantly changing. There are always new influences to deal with and new circumstances to alter one's thoughts and interests. And nothing changes faster than it does in the field of medicine. Ask five years ago which was of more concern to most people, rabies or polio, and you most certainly would have heard the cry of polio.

But ask the question today and who knows what kind of answer you might get. As to which one is the worse, it all depends. Rabies is perhaps the less dreaded but it is a very deadly adversary. Its only salvation lies in a long and painful series of preventive shots while polio is a crippling and sometimes deadly disease. But while we use to have a great deal of polio and comparatively little rabies, the situation today is reversed.

This week, the State Department of Health reported 16 cases of polio for the year to date as compared to 131 at the same time last year. This is a fantastic reduction and certainly another milestone in the tremendous progress of medicine. But the department reported 29 cases of rabies for the year to date as compared to 48 at the same time a year ago. This, too, is a reduction but nothing like the cut in polio. From year to year rabies, unfortunately, remains at a fairly stable level. These are cases of rabies in animals, of course, but that is the source of the disease for the human race.

And as we go from polio to rabies, we go from one form of flu to another. If one variety is licked, another variety seems to pop up in its place. In the total analysis of our progress, we are constantly extending the average life of mankind but it seems as though we are destined always to have a point of health to trouble us.

Attention On Rabies

The Paradox Continues

The Farmers Union Herald, a St. Paul, Minnesota, farm organization publication insists that the recent presidential balloting witnesses a big shift in the Middle West farm vote to the Democratic side. It included Nebraska in its study.

The publication based the shift on a comparison of the farm vote in the Eisenhower Stevenson campaign of 1956 and the Nixon Kennedy race in 1960. North Dakota, for example gave only 28 per cent of its vote to Stevenson but 45 per cent of its vote to Kennedy. Wisconsin voted 48 per cent Democratic in 1960 but only 39 per cent in 1956, and so on.

It is true in Nebraska that while Nebraska went strongly for Nixon the state Republican organization's extensive expenditures and much better than average grass roots effort was unable to advance Republican strength from its average 3 to 2 advantage.

But such figures as presented by the Herald lack certain elements required to make a good proposal in logic for they do not provide a classification accommodating all the factors. It could be reasonably argued that the Republican decline was due not to farm sentiment at all but to the departure of President Eisenhower from the elective contests. The President certainly was a much better personal vote getter than Stevenson, Kennedy or Nixon.

It could also be argued with some validity that both Kennedy and Nixon failed to outline a farm remedy sufficiently attractive to win the support and fervor of the rank and file farmer.

British Understanding

At this particular juncture, with the Republicans sulking in their tents over the outcome of the election and President-elect John Kennedy rendered comparatively silent by the awesome national problems he spoke so boldly about during the campaign, a period of quiet affords the opportunity to inquire what has become of other notable Americans and other American matters.

There is Lt. Peter Dawkins, for instance, the 100 per cent American boy who was sent to Oxford after a scintillating career at West Point and on the football field.

The last we heard of him and America in general abroad was that he was scintillating in the game of British rugby as well as in the hearts of all England—a great stroke for the improvement of relations between two countries that haven't the slightest idea of getting a divorce. Not only did Mr. Dawkins quickly become a thoroughgoing Oxonian, but he made the first team in rugby and dashed about so effectively that a year ago Oxford gave Cambridge the old what for in the annual match,

Well it hasn't worked out so well this year. The dispatches from Twickenham, England, where 60,000 persons witnessed the annual meeting of Oxford and Cambridge relates that Cambridge poured it on Oxford 13 to 0. Be that as it may, Mr. Dawkins remained relatively unquenchable.

The Twickenham report goes on to say that Mr. Dawkins at one juncture dashed 65 yards before being guided out of bounds by Cambridge's Mr. Alan Gordon, playing the wing three quarters, and in other instances raced 25 yards and 12 yards respectively before he lost both his identity and momentum in the dense Cambridge defense.

But the most significant thing about the dispatch was the related comment of a British lady as Mr. Dawkins crashed to the turf. She said:

"Oh I do wish that American had scored. Things have been so dreary for them lately."

This shows there is great international understanding. That exactly was the issue in the recent election.

Editorial Of The Day

The Right Remedy?

From The Washington Post
The American Medical Association, in conjunction with the other members of the Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates, has alleviated some of the distressing side effects of its qualifying examinations of foreign physicians. Unfortunately, it seems to be neglecting an obvious remedy which might prove most efficacious.

The AMA's policy-making House of Delegates affirmed the previous administrative action of allowing a six-month grace period for further training and reexamination of the nearly 2500 physicians who failed the September test. The Council also agreed to review on an individual basis its ban on care of patients by doctors who failed the examination. This should ease the doctor shortage for hospitals with large foreign staffs and repair the morale of well qualified foreign doctors. Such a review process will no doubt be disagreeable medicine to many who must prove that they are competent to do what they have been doing, but it is probably the only way.

The major criticisms of the test were that it was unreasonably difficult, and that the foreign doctors were unfamiliar with multiple choice testing and with the nuances of English. The Council seems to have met the latter criticism by its retest of a group of Spanish speaking physicians in their own language. The results, according to the AMA, did not differ significantly from the earlier test. In any case, the language objection was of doubtful validity inasmuch as medical histories of patients here must be taken in English. The technique of answering multiple choice questions is easily gained and should present little difficulty in the retest.

But the AMA and the Council chose to ignore the larger question of whether the test is really appropriate. If it is more difficult than tests required of American doctors, as alleged, then it may be an unreasonable barrier. Since there is a grievous doctor shortage and since the reputations of these foreign physicians are at stake, a review of the whole test is in order.

Business Speeds Outflow Of Gold

WASHINGTON — It was first reported, then denied, that the Eisenhower administration had intervened with the Ford Motor Company not to send the 363 million precious dollars abroad to acquire further stock in Ford's British subsidiary.

Despite the denial, here are the real facts as to what happened:

No less than Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson himself picked up the telephone and called no less than Henry Ford II himself. He told the auto heir that he was calling about Ford's plan to buy up the minority interests in its British subsidiary. He said this came at a very bad time, just as he was trying to prevent the drain of dollars abroad and just as thousands of servicemen are being separated from their families in order to stem the flow of gold overseas.

The soft-spoken Treasury secretary explained that he had no authority to interfere but wanted to be sure Ford understood the impact his proposed stock purchases would have. Anderson pointed out that the international dollar deficit might reach an alarming $4,000,000,000 before the end of the fiscal year.

This imbalance of payments has already eaten deeply into U.S. gold reserves which have dropped below $18,000,000,000 for the first time since 1940.

Ford sympathized with the nation's fiscal plight but offered no hope that the British deal could be canceled. He didn't explain why it was necessary for Ford to buy the remaining stock, however, since Ford already owned a controlling 54.6 per cent interest in its British subsidiary.

"If you must go through with this transaction," pleaded Anderson, "I suggest that you consider possible means of doing it without the impact being in dollars."

But Ford claimed he couldn't borrow enough sterling from the British, so the purchase would have to be made in dollars. That ended the conversation.

Meanwhile the amount of dollars to be sent abroad by Ford's transaction—around $363,000,000—will be slightly greater than the saving which Eisenhower and Anderson will accomplish by bringing servicemen's families home. This one business transaction alone wipes out the saving accomplished by thousands of heartaches, thousands of disrupted homes, thousands of skilled technicians who will now resign for more lucrative jobs at home.

DORIS FLESON

Stevenson Faces Trying Decision

WASHINGTON — Democratic leaders have known for a long time that Adlai Stevenson wanted to be secretary of state but nothing else and that President-elect John Kennedy did not want him for secretary of state but felt that Stevenson's stature abroad and following at home compelled adequate recognition in a Kennedy administration.

This impasse has been dramatized by Kennedy publicly in his offer to make Stevenson the United States ambassador to the United Nations with expanded power and duties. The trouble with that is that the state department is the big job in foreign affairs and that everybody, including Kennedy and Stevenson, knows it.

Stevenson has said, also publicly, that he would have to think it over. The trouble with that is that he must know now that it is the U.N. or nothing, with all that a rejection might cost this country, the Democratic party internally and Stevenson personally.

This type of personal drama is not new in American politics; it is only different in its details. The big difference to many people is that Stevenson seems to them a national treasure which should be used to the greatest possible extent in this time of clear and present danger.

They simply do not view the situation as a personal and political problem, and perhaps they never will. It is there that Kennedy assumes a risk he has apparently weighed in advance and decided to accept.

The Kennedy-Stevenson ideas on foreign policy are not a factor, for the two are in wide agreement there. Kennedy's personal and political views run something like this: Stevenson lacks the power of decision which Kennedy admires and hopes to get in every department of government. Stevenson is sufficiently controversial in some congressional sectors that he would be quickly attacked and might be put on the defensive. The Stevenson "cult" is a decisive factor in Democratic politics and must not be encouraged.

Kennedy also argues that he does not owe the state portfolio to Stevenson, who had two chances to be president but refused to nominate Kennedy at Los Angeles last summer. Had Stevenson in the end pulled California into the Democratic column, as he tried to do, that estimate might be altered.

Some Kennedy aides deride Stevenson's ability; a few deride him. The president-elect has done neither, but no one close to him could ever doubt that he did not want Stevenson next to him in his administration.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Round The Lord In Glory Seated

Round the Lord in glory seated,
Cherubim and seraphim
Filled His temple, and repeated
Each to each the alternate hymn:
"Lord, Thy glory fills the heaven,
Earth is with Thy fullness stored;
Unto Thee be glory given,
Holy, holy, holy Lord!"

Heaven is with Thy glory ringing,
Earth takes up the angel cry,
"Holy, holy, holy," singing,
"Lord of Hosts, Thou Lord Most High!"
"Lord, Thy glory fills the heaven,
Earth is with thy fullness stored;
Unto Thee be glory given,
Holy, holy, holy Lord!"

With His Seraph train before Him,
With His holy Church below,
Thus unite we to adore Him,
Bid we thus our anthem flow:
"Lord, Thy glory fills the heaven,
Earth is with Thy fullness stored;
Unto Thee be glory given,
Holy, holy, holy Lord!"

By HORACE B. POWELL

For more than a century and a half this favorite hymn of adoration has been ringing through the churches of the world. Its words were written by Bishop Richard Mant, distinguished English churchman and hymnist and its tune, known as "Sanctus", was created many years later by John Richards, Welsh musician and composer. The hymn theme was inspired by the first three Bible verses in the sixth chapter of Isaiah.

Bishop Mant, a native of Southampton, England, was graduated from Trinity College at Oxford. Soon after his ordination he was called to serve as chaplain to the Archbishop of Canterbury and in 1820 he was consecrated a bishop. Mr. Richards became widely known in Wales for his compositions of hymn tunes and anthems. He was born in Bangor, North Wales, in 1843 and died there in 1908.

Famed Taj Mahal By Moonlight

AGRA, INDIA — I stood before the archway of the Taj Mahal. There was no light except the glow of the full moon over my shoulder. It held the Taj in a solemn, pale silhouette.

No wind stirred among the marble approaches and there was no sound, save for the shuffling of the over-sized muslim boots of the tourists who had moved on inside. It was midnight.

From behind came a tug at my sleeve. A solitary figure in a gray sheath now held me firmly, gently, by the arm. Now this wordless creature was positioning me, backing me up, to a spot 20 feet from the shrine's entrance.

I caught a glimpse of his face. It was a dark, skinny face, and now it was tilted back and a finger following its gaze. I looked up.

"See it on the Taj?" the voice said.

About 200 feet up, over the entrance, a patch of wall mirrored the moon. There was something eerie about it.

"Look anywhere else," came the emotional whisper. "No moon."

He was right. Later, someone said this was a section of highly polished jade. But who was this figure in the long, tight sheath, for he sought no aims?

The guide said he was probably a demented soul. Thirty minutes later he was still there, just staring at the light of the moon near the top of the Taj.

I thought maybe he was the ghost of Shah Jahan, emperor of India entombed within with his wife, Mumtaz Mahal, for whom this wonder of the world was built more than 300 years ago.

To get here we had come 17 hours by jet liner, then 22 hours north by northeast by train — nearly halfway around the world. And then, finally, there it was — the greatest mausoleum on earth.

Nearly a city block high, its onionlike dome rises over this countryside of Oriental gardens. Twenty thousand Indians worked on it— 17 years of primitive labor, and today, 322 years later, you see little sign of depreciation.

At night, you don't come upon the Taj at once. A red sandstone gateway four stories high prepares you for it —1,000 yards beyond. When I first looked, in the moonlight, it wasn't there. The guide said, "Step into this dark corner and set your eyes to it." Then, like a film in a developer, the picture emerged slowly, delicate against its backdrop, for now the mist was rising from the River Jamuna, sister of the Ganges, behind.

No longer are the spires pure gold. They'd been replaced by brass, so the story goes, by the emperor's son who had Shah Jahan put to death. And the precious jewels— certainly all the diamonds— have been removed. Some say the British did it.

There are many tales about Taj Mahal. There are stories about spirits, too. And I am still wondering about that creature gazing at the moon.

Urban Renewal

Lincoln, Neb.
You are as right as rain in your editorial on urban renewal wherein you question the advisability of a vote every time something major is to be accomplished.

Let's not kid ourselves. This cumbersome approach means death for a wonderful program for our city.

ROBERT JOHNSON

Helping Out

Lincoln, Neb.
I would like to give full credit to a boy who earned it in every way. This is the boy who captured the fellow who shot one of the nicest boys in town.

The boy to whom credit is due is Robert Amspoker. If there were more boys like him, this would be a much better world in which to live. This boy, in my opinion and in the opinion of many others, was tremendous that Saturday night. Many people don't realize that he risked his own life to help his friend. I don't know how many people would have had the courage to chase down and face someone who was panicky and had a loaded gun, but if it hadn't been for this boy and his courage, the assailant might have gotten away.

This deed itself was outstanding, but this boy did not stop there. After taking his prisoner to the police station, he then returned to the scene of the incident before the ambulance arrived and tried to administer first aid. Then he rode in the ambulance to the hospital with the injured boy. To top everything else off, he notified the boy's relatives before anyone else had even thought of it and proceeded to stick by his pal and comfort him until relatives arrived finally to relieve him.

He returned to the police station and probably went through a very exhausting ordeal, and then back out to the hospital where he stayed until late in the morning. When asked about it, he said he "didn't do much." I don't know what else he could have done, but if there had been anything else, he would surely have done it. I am sure his girl friend and his parents are proud of him. I know I would be proud to walk down the street with him. So, speaking for the injured boy's parents and the rest of the city of Lincoln, I say thank you to Bob Amspoker.

Little John Quiet On First Flight

Palm Beach, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy and his wife took their infant son from freezing Washington into the balmy air of tropic Florida Friday.

The 14-day-old boy, christened John F. Kennedy Jr. only Thursday, was bundled in a white blanket and carried aboard by a new nurse for his first airplane ride.

Without a murmur, happily taking a bottle high aloft, with the gentle throbbing of the plane engines, little John made the flight here in a pink and white bassinet on a rear seat. Not a cry was heard from him during the 4-hour and 10-minute flight at 12,000 foot altitude, with the cabin pressurized at 3,500 feet and only a few bumpy moments.

His father, soon to take over duties in the White House, sat for a while across a table from his son, relaxed and smoking a cigar.

Mrs. Kennedy, turned aside an assist from Secret Service men who planned to carry her up the 12-ramp steps into the plane.

When Kennedy turned to her and asked "what about the steps?" She said, "I'll walk up." And she did, slowly and carefully.

During the trip, she retired to a private rear compartment.

She looked well and pretty in a purple coat with a small pillbox hat of black mink.

It was her first day out of the hospital, where she has been since young John's birth Nov. 25, and Mrs. Kennedy had a busy day.

Before she set forth on her recuperation vacation in Florida, she made an hour-and-a-half long visit at the White House, to be shown around the premises by the first lady, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

While 3 days before at the White House President Eisenthe shifting of executive power, their wives discussed the changeover of a household and how the new tenants, with a family of two young children can accommodate themselves to living quarters at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mrs. Kennedy said Mrs. Eisenhower gave her floor plans of the White House. While she is in Florida, she may have a chance to decide how she'll redecorate her new home.

Sen. Kennedy, after a busy week on appointing cabinet members and key advisors, was unusually relaxed aboard his private plane, named for his 3-year-old daughter, Caroline.

En route, he took time out to chat with newsmen aboard and to commiserate about how and his successor spoke of world affairs and their cold vigil outside his Georgetown home, where he has been conducting business, with doorstep interviews and introductions of new appointees.

He said his wife was doing fine and he was pleased with her speedy recovery.

Also aboard the plane was Charles S. Spaulding, an old friend of Kennedy's and a New York investment broker.

Before leaving Washington in mid-afternoon, Kennedy apparently discussed an administration post with at least one of a stream of callers who filed through his Georgetown house during the morning and early afternoon.

This one was Walt W. Rostow, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology economist who has built a reputation as an authority on the relative strength of U.S. and Iron Curtain economies and who was a key member of Kennedy's campaign brain trust.

Gave Hint

Rostow after his conference turned away questions about job offers, but inadvertently hinted at one when he said he might make a decision next week.

Kennedy has indicated optimism that the coming week will see major offices in his administration filled. He told reporter earlier he hopes to talk again about midweek with Adlai E. Stevenson, to whom he has offered the cabinet-rank post of ambassador to the United Nations.

Stevenson withheld an immediate decision, leading to speculation he may want to see who would be the secretary of state with whom he would be associated.

DR. YOUNG OUTSTANDING VETERINARIAN

Dr. George A. Young, chairman of the Department of Veterinary Science at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, has been named the state's outstanding veterinarian of the year.

The title was awarded by the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association, which wound up a 3 day convention in Lincoln Friday.

Dr. Young is known widely for his leadership in the development of Specific-Pathogen-free pigs, a technique under which baby pigs are taken from the sow before birth by surgical means, then reared in isolation for several weeks to prevent transmission of disease from the mother to the offspring.

Dr. Young began the work while at the University of Minnesota and continued it after moving to Nebraska.

Norman Underdahl, associate professor of veterinary science at the Ag College, was named an honorary member of the association.

Also on its final meeting day, the association heard technical papers including "Problems in a Pig Nursery" and "Contract in Group Practice."

Dr. C. B. Schwab of Fairbury was named an alternate delegate to the American Veterinary Medical Association.

New Club Set At Lincoln Hotel

A social club to be located in the Lincoln Hotel filed articles of incorporation as The Trade Winds Club with the Secretary of State.

Purpose of the club was listed in the filing as "recreation" and "promotion of programs between members of the armed forces and civilians." Donald Geis will become manager of the club which is slated to open Jan. 2.

Incorporators of the non-profit organization are Clifford C. Geis, Edith M. Geis, Richard R. Larsen, R. Fred Holberg and Roger P. Buhrdorf, all of Lincoln.

Jensen Favors Ag Department Over Ambassador's Job

By Don Walton
State Sen. Hans Jensen Friday night said if he accepts an appointment with the new administration of President-elect John Kennedy, it would most likely be with the Department of Agriculture.

"My first interest is in the Nebraska Legislature," the senator noted.

"But, if I do go with the Kennedy administration, I would be most interested in the Department of Agriculture."

Jensen made the comments in reply to rumors that he is being considered as U.S. ambassador to Denmark.

"I have not been offered anything," the senator pointed out.

'Just Talk'
The ambassadorial rumors,

he said, are "a lot of newspaper talk."

Jensen served as chairman of Nebraska Citizens for Kennedy during the general election campaign.

Meanwhile, it appeared likely Friday that Robert Conrad, Jack Obbink and Mrs. Ralph G. Brooks may all be in line for possible appointments in the new administration.

Conrad, recently returned from conferences with Kennedy aides in Washington, has been mentioned as a possibility for U.S. district attorney in Nebraska.

The former administrative assistant to the late Gov. Brooks and defeated Democratic senatorial nominee said his future plans are not yet definite.

Obbink Confers
Obbink, who is protesting his firing as state aeronautics director by Gov. Dwight Burney, has conferred twice in Washington with Robert Kennedy, brother of the President-elect.

Obbink's firing developed out of an incident involving a midnight flight to Kansas City with a state plane in which Kennedy was a passenger.

Mrs. Brooks, wife of the former governor, has been visiting in Washington. She has been mentioned as a possibility for several posts with the administration.

Other Nebraskans who have conferred with top Kennedy aides in Washington include State Agriculture Director Pearl Finigan, Jensen and State Sen. John Munnely of Omaha.

Governor-elect Frank Morrison and Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle have also been involved in conferences in the nation's capital.

Another Nebraskan considered a top prospect for a Kennedy appointment—if she so desires—is Mrs. Helen Abdouch of Omaha, executive director of the Kennedy-Johnson campaign here.

Regarding the possible Jensen appointment, it was noted that the senator is of Danish descent and speaks and writes the language.

Another Nebraskan, former Gov. Val Peterson, currently holds the post of envoy to Denmark.

Jensen returned to Nebraska Friday from a 3-day visit in Washington during which he exchanged greetings with the President-elect and met twice with brother Robert.

The Aurora solon said he had recommended use in the administration of defeated Democratic Congressman Don McGinley and Larry Brock.

He also pressed for the appointment of a midwesterner as secretary of agriculture.

OMAHA MAN HURT IN BUILDING BLAST

Omaha (AP) — Harold L. Viox, 37, escaped serious injury Friday in an explosion and subsequent building collapse.

Viox is a body man at an auto firm where the blast occurred.

The unexplained explosion raised the roof and sent mortar and blocks flying from the recently completed concrete block addition.

Viox was hospitalized.

Tax Information Not Evidence Of Actual Value

The federal income tax information which Nebraska taxpayers are required to include in their state tangible personal property returns is not conclusive evidence as to the actual value of the property, the State Supreme Court held Friday.

LANCASTER DECISION REVERSED

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed the district court for Lancaster County and ordered a new trial for a University of Nebraska professor in an injury case growing from an auto accident.

The reversal was one of 5 handed down by the court Friday.

The action against Everett E. Peterson, professor of agricultural economics, was started by Mrs. Thelma Hermilla, who was 24 years old and a resident of Ozark, Mo., at the time of the 1958 accident. She was a passenger in a car which collided with Peterson's car at South and 24th Streets. She contended she was injured in the accident, and the court awarded her a recovery of $4,500.

The high court said the record yields no evidence sufficient to show that Mrs. Hermilla suffered a permanent injury. It directed the district court to carry out further proceedings according to law.

was handed down in the form of a reversal of the district court for Jefferson County in a suit brought by L. J. Messer Co. of Fairbury against the Jefferson County board of equalization.

The firm had reported its stock of merchandise at $25,666, but the board changed the value to $31,165. The company successfully contended that the valuation made by the board was based wholly upon the federal income tax return, and that such value was not the actual value of the stock.

The firm requested the board's valuation to be declared erroneous and illegal, but the district court dismissed the case.

On appeal, the supreme court said the board did not offer evidence to prove that it did not base its finding on the federal income tax return, and ordered the district court to fix the value at the firm's figure, $25,666.

It said the federal return may be weighed in arriving at the determination of actual value, but in this case it did not represent actual value because of the bookkeeping system did not allow for the taking of depreciation and obsolescence.

Claim To Fame

New York (UPI) — Cranberries have the highest natural pectin content of any fruit. This quality makes them jell successfully and also helps in the digestive processes.

COMMISSION ACTION REVERSED

The Nebraska Supreme Court said Friday the Oakdale Telephone Co. of Oakdale, which pays its two operators $60 and $65 a month, is entitled to increase its rates.

The court thus reversed the action of the Nebraska Railway Commission, which denied the firm's application to increase rates.

The increase had been opposed by Henry Wilcock, who said he is director of another telephone company with offices in South Sioux City.

The high court said the company was denied a fair return on its invested capital—even on the value fixed by the court.

He said the firm's operators are necessary employees to maintain and operate its plant; denied the opportunity to pay employees an adequate, reasonable wage, and denied the revenue necessary to put its plant in a condition to render reasonable service.

"The company's patrons are denied the service that public convenience and necessity requires them to in this case," the court said.

Court Reverses Self In Accident Suit

By an unusual 4-3 decision, the Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reversed itself on a $20,000 suit brought by an Omaha workman who was injured in a 1954 scaffold accident.

The high court's action, in effect, removed one of the two defendants in the case from responsibility. Otto Schaap doing business as Speedway Scaffold Co. The status of the other defendant, Parsons Construction Co., Baer's employer at the time of the accident, was not affected.

Baer sued the two firms for injuries received when a plank on a scaffold unended and he fell 40 feet to the sidewalk. The scaffold had been erected by Speedway Scaffold at the Patterson Building at 17th and Farnam Streets in Omaha. Records show Baer was 46 years old at the time, received a compressed fracture of a vertebra, and received a permanent disability of 10 to 15%. He later had a heart attack, and unable to continue construction work, became a taxi driver.

The supreme court earlier confirmed the awarding of $20,000 to Baer by both Speedway and Parsons. In its majority opinion, the supreme court criticized the district court for the delay in trying the case, which it said "obviously accounts for some if not all of the confusion, lack of memory, and contradictory statements of witnesses," and said the record was written in such a manner that it was difficult to do more than speculate on what the lawyers, court and jury had indicated.

Intervention Asked

London (UPI)—The Committee of African Organizations in London cabled Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru urging "open intervention to save Congo premier Patrice Lumumba."

who placed the upending plank in the platform is "purely circumstantial," which would not sustain Baer's case against Speedway. The dissenting opinion by Judge Adolph Wenke, to which Judge Elwood Chappell joined and Judge Fred Messmore concurred, said the jury had a right to find from the evidence that the plank was placed in the platform by Speedway, that it was so placed in a negligent manner, and was the cause of the accident.

DECISION VOIDING RESTRICTIVE CONTRACT PROVISIONS UPHELD

A Lincoln County District Court decision voiding the restrictive provisions in an employment contract between Securities Acceptance Corp., North Platte, and Robert M. Brown, a former employee, was affirmed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The action was started last year by Securities Acceptance Corp., a Delaware firm, and joined by Securities Acceptance Corp. of North Platte, a Nebraska corporation.

The suit was for the purpose of keeping Brown from breaching certain restrictive or non-competitive provisions of his contract.

Car Prices Drop

Detroit (UPI) — The average price of the 1961 model cars is about 4.5% lower than the average for the 1960 makes. This has resulted from lower prices for some of the compact models, the addition of smaller and cheaper cars to the medium-price lines and elimination of more expensive models in that price range.

Brown was North Platte manager for Securities Acceptance, and was later a supervisor. However, he quit Securities Acceptance and went to work for the North Platte Loan and Finance Co., where he admitted he made changes in operations based on the knowledge he had gained while an employee of Securities Acceptance.

He also admitted he called on former customers of Securities Acceptance, but denied having solicited them for business. One of the provisions of the contract bound him not to enter directly or indirectly any business competition with the firm until 18 months after terminating employment.

The high court said this provision is unreasonable, and that other restrictive provisions may not be enforced.

Scotts Bluff Co. Decision Reversed

A Scotts Bluff County District Court decision involving a $1,000 escrow fund was reversed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The $1,000 had been placed in escrow at the Girard National Bank by Douglas R. Jones according to terms of an agreement with John and Madeline V. Podewitz.

According to the agreement, the Podewitz' were required to lease their homestead land for oil and gas drilling. If the drilling took place by a certain date, the Podewitz' were to receive the $1,000. If not, Jones was to get it. Jones later sold his interest in the agreement to E. L. Fundinland. There was never any drilling.

The trial court held that the Podewitz' title to the land was not merchantable so as to permit drilling before the date and Jones and Fundinland were awarded the $1,000. The high court reversed the decision and ordered a new trial for the Podewitz'.

'61 Legislature Should Get Several Programs

... If State Expands Medical Aid

The 1961 state Legislature should be given more than one program to choose from if the state expands its medical aid program to persons over 65.

This was the opinion Friday of State Public Welfare Director Frank Woods who said Nebraska would have more funds available with passage of the federal medical aid program to persons over 65. "Our problem now is to figure out the best way of spending this additional money without hurting the taxpayers of the state," Woods said.

He said some states just have hospital care and emergency surgery as part of their program while others are broader.

Federal Money Unlimited

He said the federal appropriation to states was unlimited and the amount to be received was up to the states.

Governor Burney, at the budget hearing, estimated it would cost taxpayers of the state about $3 million to start the medical aid program in the state.

Woods said this money should give the state a fairly comprehensive medical aid program. But he added alternatives should be ready in case the Legislature does not think the state should spend that much money.

At the hearing, the 1961-63 budget of the State Public Welfare Department was presented calling for $15,470,891 from the general fund, a $708,591 increase over the present budget appropriation for 1959-61.

Schiefen Explains

The budget was explained by Ted H. Schiefen, chief of the finance division of the department. State Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney, administrative assistant to Governor-elect Frank Morrison, and Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln, Morrison's budget adviser, attended the hearing. Total budget for the department was estimated at $43,036,591, a slight decrease from the $43,471,956 appropriated by the 1959 Legislature.

The total budget included the general fund amount, $27,563,900 in federal funds and $180,000 in cash funds.

Largest chunk of the general fund account was $14,562,400 estimated for state assistance payments and state and county administration, Schiefen said. This figure is broken up into 4 categories: old-age assistance, blind assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to the disabled.

The department also budgeted $548,491 from the general fund for child welfare services, crippled children's services and boarding home care, a slight increase over the present two-year amount.

Also budgeted was $360,000 from the general fund for county services.

Schiefen said this increase, which was about 10% over 1959-61, would help pay $14,000 which the state owes counties for care of children.

He said the state owed the counties $22,000 but the state managed to get $8,500 from the federal government to supply funds for the shortage.

Following are the 4 categories in which assistance payments are made including the average number of cases for the two-year period and the average cost per month of each case. In parenthesis is the total amount to be spent from the general fund in each category:

—Old Age Assistance: 13,500 cases at an average of $78 per month for 24 months. ($718,000).
—Blind Assistance: 700 cases at an average of $96 per month for 24 months. ($718,000).
—Aid to dependent children: 2,850 cases of 11,350 recipients at average of $62 per recipient per month for 24 months. ($2,044,800).
—Aid to disabled: 2,200 cases at average of $77 per month for 24 months. ($1,497,600).

$85,000 Left In Student Aid Fund

There is $85,000 left in the Katie Darby trust fund yet to be distributed to youths under 21 who need financial help to get through school.

Ted H. Schiefen, chief of the finance division of the State Public Welfare Department, said this money would have to be spent in the next two years because the fund, set up for a 10-year period, terminates in 1963.

If any money is left over, it will go to other heirs of the family.

Mrs. Ethel Kirwin, member of the Board of Control which also acts as the Board of Public Welfare in administering the fund, said that previous policy had been to give money only to those wards of the state who could not finance their education. Now, the board will grant money to anyone under 21 who shows need for money to get an education, she said.

CHATTER —in the— CORRIDOR

By Stevie Dort
What! Only a few more shopping days left? That's impossible. With Christmas just around the corner many parties and activities will be on tap for Lincoln Southeast students.

Y-Teens at LSE will be bell-ringing this season, aiding the Salvation Army. The girls, all in senior high, volunteered for the ringing job.

"Noche de paz." Language classes at Southeast are celebrating Christmas this year in their own ways. The classes are learning Christmas carols in the foreign languages.

Southeast guidance classes have arisen extra early on two occasions to hear a rabbi and a judge speak on "Marriage, Family and Divorce." Their talks began at 7:45 a.m. Numerous church pastors have spoken during the regular guidance classes.

Last night the Knights met Northeast at the PSAB in a thrilling inter-city game. Tonight the Southeast team meets the Tigers at Fremont. With Pep Club buses making the trip, Southeast will be well represented. (GOOD LUCK, YOU KNIGHTS!)

Southeast Student Council is selling LSE pennants to earn money to pay for the new student lounge. Also, they are responsible for the beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the front hall. It adds a lot of Christmas spirit!

Senior Brenda Brown will swim the solo number in the 1961 Synkra-Knights water show. Kathy Gittleton and Nancy Keller will perform in the duet act. These girls were chosen on their ability to do water ballet stunts.

Did you see Paul Harvey in the Southeast halls? Because of the efforts of the Clarion and Shield publications, ABC Newscaster Paul Harvey spent some time at Lincoln Southeast while in Lincoln.

Mr. Harvey was a guest of the Lincoln Teacher's Association and spoke at the Pershing Auditorium. Jim McGinnis and Jean Probasco, LSE publication editors, talked with Mr. Harvey during his visit.

Friday afternoon the LSE pool was invaded for the first swim meet of the season. Southeast, the defending state champions met Omaha Central. One more state championship and we will keep the trophy. Yea Team!

Dear Abby— Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about my best friend's husband? He talks about me in his sleep. I swear I never even thought about this man as anything but a friend. And he never once got out of line with me since I have known him.

My friend has told me that she has heard him talking love talk about me in his sleep, so I can't blame her for getting suspicious. I haven't mentioned this to my husband because I don't want to stir anything up. This bothers me a lot and is affecting my friendship with this woman. How should I handle it?

DEAR NOT: The husband of your friend is a victim of his subconscious . . . and so are you. A man can be held responsible only for what he says when he is awake. If your friend doesn't realize this, there is nothing you can do.

DEAR ABBY: When we are out socially and my husband happens to leave the room and someone says, "Gee, he's a great guy," what do I say? "He sure is," or "You should be around him at home."

DR. JEKYLL'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Don't say anything. Just smile and nod. If you say, "He sure is," while thinking otherwise, the message you'll probably convey is, "You should be around him at home."

DEAR ABBY: At the age of 19 I was trapped into marrying a girl I did not love. A child was born six months after we were married and I am almost certain that this child is not mine. But I have no way of proving it. We have been separated two years and she had another child. There is not a chance in the world that this child is mine. But she is my legal wife and I have to support it. This girl was no good when I married her and she hasn't changed. I will never live with her. How can I get out of this bind?

TRAPPED
DEAR TRAPPED: You need legal advice and I am no lawyer. It will cost something, but will be well worth it.

CONFIDENTIAL
TO "WHOM IT MAY CONCERN" FROM LINCOLN: He who cannot forgive others destroys the bridge over which he himself one day must pass, for everyone needs to be forgiven.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

TALK OF THE TOWN

—It's a big, beautiful morning, newswise, and we're going to make the most of it. We have all sorts of interesting conversational topics—guests, a delightful array of parties, plus a little of this and that.

—There is no reason why we shouldn't begin the day with news of guests—no reason at all. So, we'll begin the day with news of guests.

It really is to be a Merry Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Makepeace. Their sons-in-law and daughters will be home.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Gustafson (Wendy Makepeace) will be leaving their home in San Francisco next week for Scottsbluff where they will spend a few days as the guests of Mr. Gustafson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gustafson, before arriving in Lincoln on Dec. 22. Their stay here will be short, however, since Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson leave on Dec. 26 to fly back to San Francisco.

Arriving on Christmas day will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Larkin (Lucette Makepeace) of Evergreen, Colo., who actually will come to Lincoln from Omaha where they will spend Christmas Eve with Mr. Larkin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Larkin. Mr. and Mrs. Larkin plan to be in town during Holiday week.

—And from San Francisco on Dec. 22 will come Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Shaw (Barbara Bell) and their son, William Ashley Bell, who will be the holiday guests of Mrs. Shaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bell.

—It might appear that the west coast has a monopoly on Lincoln's Christmas guest list, but such is not the case. Orlando, Fla., makes a contribution to our holiday season in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henderson, formerly of Lincoln. Mrs. Henderson will be arriving next Saturday (Dec. 17) and will be joined here a few days later by Mr. Henderson, and they will be the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson.

—And to compliment the visitors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson will be an informal host and hostess at their home on Friday evening, Dec. 23, when they entertain a small group of old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henderson.

—Since we seem to be speaking of guests we'll mention some who have come—and gone. We have in mind Mrs. James Kelso and her five year-old son, John, who have been spending the past 10 days as the guests of Mrs. Kelso's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. D. Kinsey.

Mrs. Kelso and her son left on Friday for Omaha where they were the overnight guests of Mrs. Kelso's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Hall before jetting off to Pacific Palisades, Calif.—and home.

—This bids fair to be a gay and happy holiday season—We're basing our opinion, naturally on our party calendar which is filled to the brim.

The mad and merry party pace begins next Thursday morning when Mrs. George Joy is a coffee hostess at her home. Thirty-five guests have been invited for the 10 o'clock pre-holiday affair.

—Sunday, Dec. 18, is the day and date Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury have chosen for their 5 o'clock holiday party at their home.

—There is to be party activity at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Maness, too—

Mrs. Maness is to be hostess on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, Dec. 20 and 21, when she entertains at holiday coffees. The guests for each of the parties have been invited for 10:30 o'clock.

—And of course you know that Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell are moving to Phoenix, Ariz., after the first of the year, and of course you have guessed that the days ahead will be generously dotted with farewell courtesies for Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

The first of the farewell parties will be the 6 o'clock to 8 o'clock affair on Friday evening, Dec. 16, when Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Desmond, Jr.,

Madam Chairman

AUW, Lincoln Branch, 2 o'clock annual Red Candle tea, Nebraska Wesleyan University campus center.

Mu Phi Epsilon Alumnae, 1 o'clock dessert at the home of Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
4 NT Pass 5 ♠ Pass
5 NT Pass 6 ♠ Pass

Opening lead — three of hearts.

A reader submits this hand and points out that he was a victim of exceptionally bad luck.

It seems he got to six spades, a reasonable enough contract, on the bidding sequence shown. He had tried Blackwood in an effort to reach a grand slam, but abandoned the idea when North showed only one king in response to the five no-trump bid.

Declarer's troubles commenced when West opened a heart. South made the best play of taking a finesse immediately, being willing to lose the nine to the king, which would leave him with twelve tricks — even against a heart return.

But East, who had no difficulty analyzing the lead as a singleton, made the proper play of letting the nine win. Declarer continued with the ten and discarded a club when East played low again. West ruffed, of course, and shifted to a diamond.

South won with the ace, but was a deceased pigeon. He could get one discard on the ace of hearts, after drawing trumps, but still had to lose a club or a diamond, and was duly buried — with honors.

It was indeed an unfortunate hand for South. If West had opened any suit but a heart, declarer would have made thirteen tricks. Whatever the lead, South would win, cash the A-Q of spades, play a heart through East to trap the king and thus obtain four heart tricks.

Also, if East had played the king of hearts on either the first or second trick, South would have made the slam.

Moreover, if South had had dummy's two or three of spades, in place of the four, he would have had available an extra entry to dummy and no defense could have stopped the slam.

So, just as in the story where for want of a nail the kingdom was lost, we can well say in this case that for want of a deuce the slam was lost.

Suburbia

PARK MANOR

News from the suburb this morning includes mention of a birthday party for a member of the small-fry set, two new additions to the diaper set, several change of addresses among other things.

One change of address involves Capt. and Mrs. Charles J. Takacs and their son, Chris. They moved recently from 1911 E. Bermuda to 3447 Walker Dr. at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

And in case you did not already know, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Johnson and their family which includes Kirsten, Scott, and Jeffrey, have moved from Lincoln to the 50th state. They are living in Honolulu where Mr. Johnson is associated with Station KULA.

And we might add that Kirsten will not be joining her family in their new home until early next year as she is completing her studies at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

A notation in the birthday book tells us that Kevin

Popp, was ten years old Sunday, Nov. 27. And the preceding evening he was the guest of honor at a family dinner.

More mention of the Popp family reminds us that Mrs. Popp entertained her bridge club recently at home. The members of this eightosome include Delta Delta Delta sorority sisters of the hostess.

And Wednesday morning, Nov. 30, found a group of suburbia residents getting together for coffee at the home of Mrs. Boyd MacDougall. The 12 neighbors have coffee together one morning each month.

A new member of the talcum powder set is little Martha Lynn Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Le Moyne Jones, who was born on Friday, Nov. 18, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She has two older sisters, Cynthia and Candace.

Mrs. Jones is the former Shirley Bashford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bashford of Gardena, Calif. The paternal grandmother is Mr. Elsie Jones.

Competition Provides Favorable Road Bids

By Richard Archbold
United Press International
Keen competition among contractors for jobs on the Nebraska Interstate system is giving the state "quite favorable" prices as the 1960 program nears its finish, according to Acting State Engineer John Hossack.

"The bids have been almost always below or in line with our estimates which normally indicates good competition," Hossack said. "Some bids have been quite below our estimates."

The figures bear Hossack out. Apparent low bids on 1960 Interstate projects through November amounted to $15,198,000 which is $1,985,602 below the Highway Department's estimate of $18,183,602 for the cost of the projects.

In 1959 the state estimated cost of its Interstate contracts at $8,982,817. The low bids totaled $8,107,000 which was $785,817 below the estimate.

Bi '58 Saving
The same thing happened in 1958. The Highway Department estimated cost of its contracts for that year at $10,274,758 and the bids totaled $9,300,000, a $974,758 difference.

Hossack said the competition was good despite the fact that the average number of bidders per contract has shown a slight decrease since 1958. He said the number of bidders usually is a good sign of the strength of competition, but he was quick to add that "if all bidders really want a job, it doesn't matter how many bid."

He said even two contractors strongly bidding on one job would submit a "pretty fair price" to the Highway Department.

A United Press International check showed that in 1958 there was a total of 154 bidders on 29 contracts for an average of 5.3 bids per contract.

Decrease In '60
In 1959 there were 112 bidders on 22 projects making an average of 5.0 bidders per contract. A slight decrease was shown in 1960 when the Interstate program picked up with 268 bidders for 64 contracts making an average of 4.2 bids per contract.

Hossack explained that the decrease in the average number of bidders may have resulted from insistence of the Highway Department on earlier completion dates for projects in 1960. This was done to speed up the State Interstate program, he said.

Afro-Asians 'Make Waves' In U.N.

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The African-Asian group Friday broke through so-called gentlemen's agreements that for years have decided geographical distribution of seats on the major U.N. councils.

In the process the group appeared almost certain to have ousted Nationalist China from the economic and social council seat which that country has always held by unwritten law because it is one of the 5 permanent members of the security council.

The 46-nation African and Asian group went along with pre-vote deals on 3 of the 4 candidates for nonpermanent seats in the security council and on 5 of the 6 agreed candidates for the economic and social council.

Balked
But they balked at election by the U.N. General Assembly of Portugal as the Western European candidate in the security council and of Belgium in the economic and social council.

Many of the Asian-African group have been calling for the seating of Red China here. Most of them also have been denouncing Portugal as a colonial power and castigating Belgium because it was the former colonial power in the Congo.

Elected Chile
The assembly elected Chile to the security council for the next two years to succeed Argentina and the United Arab Republic to succeed Tunisia.

The assembly also ratified the agreement last year that gave Turkey a one-year term in 1961 on the seat held during the last year by Poland, representing the Soviet bloc.

But a series of 8 ballots failed to dispose of the remaining seat to be filled. Portugal led Liberia 50-32, considerably below the required two-thirds majority, on the first ballot. On the eighth ballot Liberia was leading 55 to 38 for Portugal, 7 votes short of the required majority.

Resume Later
Assembly President Frederick H. Boland, of Ireland, announced the election for that seat would be resumed next week.

On the first ballot in the economic and social council elections that followed, the assembly elected Uruguay, El Salvador, France, Jordan and Ethiopia with clear majorities.

Jordan and Ethiopia were supposed to be contending for the seat held until now by Sudan.

Belgium received 52 votes, Nationalist China 51, Ghana 11, Liberia 3. A scattering of votes went to others.

China Dropped
Then through a series of alternating restricted and unrestricted ballots, China finally dropped to 6 votes on the 10th ballot. India led with 47, followed by Belgium with 36, China 6, Austria 3, and Cambodia, Mexico and Malaysia with one each.

Boland announced no clear decision was in sight and said that election would be postponed until a later date.

Nationalist China is still eligible to be voted on in a future election, but its future on the council appeared hopeless.

Kennedy's Election Plurality From All Precincts—139,332
Washington (AP) — With returns from all the nation's 166,064 precincts counted, Sen. John F. Kennedy Friday had a popular vote plurality of 139,332 over Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Nov. 8 presidential election.

An Associated Press tabulation based on official returns from 44 states and unofficial totals from Idaho, Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island, gave: Kennedy, 34,221,229; Nixon, 34,081,897; Others 46,505.

The grand total of 68,764,631 in popular votes is expected to rise a bit further with official figures, including minor party votes, from the 6 states still to report them.

Both Arizona and West Virginia came through with their official totals Friday. Nixon gained more than 6,000 net in Arizona compared with the incomplete unofficial tabulations. Kennedy picked up a net of about 800 in West Virginia.

Until Friday Arizona had lacked returns from 75 precincts and West Virginia from 9.

The lateness in reporting final figures for the nation is not unusual. In many areas, once the outcome is clear, there are no exhaustive efforts to get the vote count completed. Many states put off counting minor votes until long after the election.

Judge Places Former Prof On Probation

Thomas Bruce Waters of the Lincoln Hotel was placed on 3-year probation on a sodomy charge Friday by Lancaster District Judge John Polk.

Waters, former assistant philosophy professor at the University of Nebraska, had pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) and was found guilty by Judge Polk.

Waters, 54, was charged with having unnatural sexual relations Sept. 10 with a 27-year-old transient, Jack Burton Smith. Smith pleaded guilty to a sodomy charge in September and was sentenced to two years in the State Penitentiary by Judge Paul White.

Waters' attorney, Dale Fahrbruch, in a plea to Judge Polk for probation, said a psychiatric exam given Waters showed that Waters is not a menace to society and is not a homosexual. Fahrbruch said Waters' difficulties have been brought on by alcohol.

Judge Polk told Waters, who resigned his post at the university Nov. 1, that he also believed alcohol had been his downfall. The judge ordered Waters to completely abstain from the use of alcohol as a condition of the probation.

49ers Train 'Shotgun' On Packer Power Today

San Francisco (AP) — It's Green Bay's power against San Francisco's shotgun attack in today's battle between two of the 3 clubs sharing the top spot in the National Football League's Western Division.

Defensively, the Packers from Green Bay boast a solid front line and probably the best linebacking in the league.

The 49ers found that out when they feel 41-14 the first time the two clubs met.

That, however, was before coach Red Hickey installed the spread offense he calls the "shotgun" for his 49ers who won 3 in a row to pull into the tie with Green Bay and Baltimore, each with 6-4 records.

"With their spread formation, they're in good shape to utilize everybody's speed to best advantage," says Packer coach Vince

Lombardi. "With all that room the spread gives them, they're bound to be able to run, not to mention throw the ball."

Drill In Secret
He worked his club in secret all week perfecting defenses against the formation the 49ers used for the first time in their 30-22 upset of Baltimore two weeks ago.

A full crowd of 59,000 in Kezar Stadium plus a national television audience (CBS) will see the results. Kickoff time is 3:30 p.m. (CST).

The victor takes over the divisional leadership, at least until Baltimore faces the Rams at Los Angeles

Sunday.
In other Sunday games, Chicago plays at Cleveland, Dallas at Detroit, New York at Washington and Philadelphia's Eastern champions at Pittsburgh. San Francisco's defenders, who have allowed the fewest points, 182, of any club in the league, must stop the powerful one-two running punch of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, a pair of 215-pounders.

In 10 games, Hornung has scored 152 points, eclipsing the league record of 137 set by Don Hutson in 1942.

Plus that, the Packers have the throwing of quarterbacks Bart Starr and Lamar McHan.

Hickey nominated ex-Stanford star John Brodie to again operate the San Francisco attack.

When the 49ers go into their spread, Brodie will stand about 7 yards behind the line and take a direct snap from center. The other backs and ends will be spread.

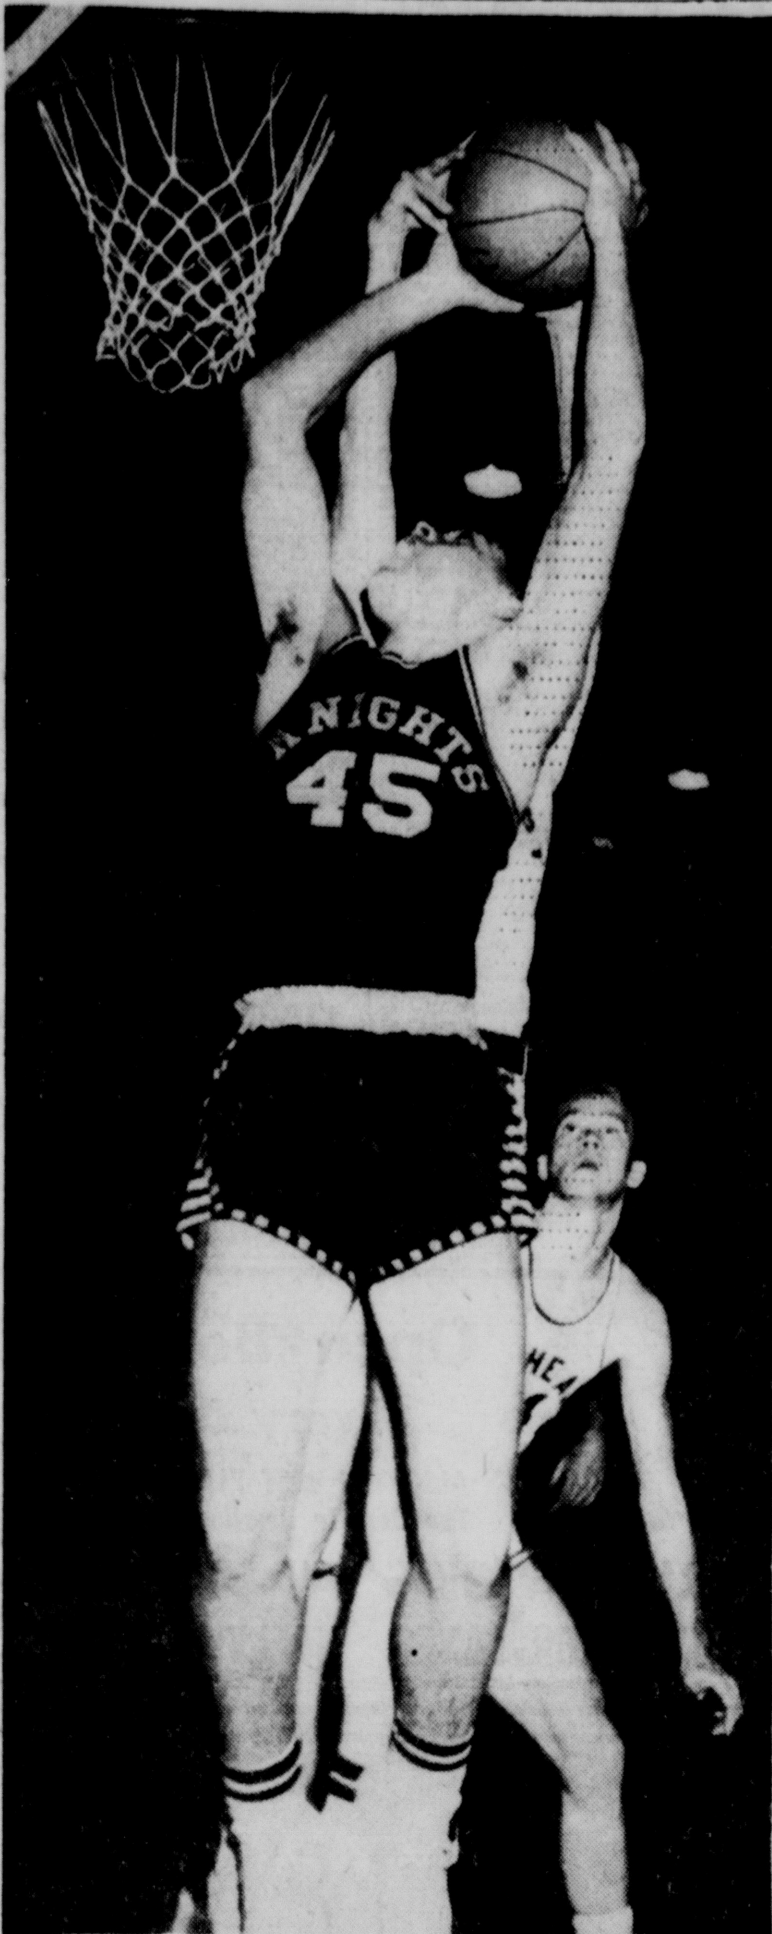

Not all the plays are run from the spread. The basic attack still is the T. Starting with Brodie in the backfield will be C. R. Roberts at fullback, J.D. Smith at left half and either R. C. Owens or Hugh McElhenny at the flanker.

49ers Healthy

For the first time this season, every man on the squad is healthy and available for duty," Hickey reported. The game, he predicted:

"It'll be an earthquake they'll hear all the way back to Arkansas."

Rockets' Free Shots Decide

... CRAMER SCORES 31 IN LOSS

By Al Beebe
Lincoln Northeast, with other factors virtually even, found the deciding edge in free throws to score a 73-62 triumph over Lincoln Southeast at the PSA Building Friday night.

Both teams were hot. Both teams had brilliant individual standouts. Both clubs played exceptionally well for an early-season contest with a mid-season performance.

But the Rockets canned 28 of 40 free throws to decide the thriller.

Apply Clinchers
It was Dave Lebsack and Skip Peterson who applied the clinchers in the 4th quarter after NE had lost a 5-point halftime advantage.

Lebsack, who was 12-for-12 from the line during the night, hit 6 of them in that last stanza. Peterson was perfect on 4 tries.

The free throw shooting overcame a great performance by SE's Jack Cramer, and one just about as good by Earl Wright of the Rockets.

Cramer Hits 31
Cramer canned 31 points, and got considerably more help from his mates this time than he did in SE's opening win.

Wright hit for 24 markers before fouling out with 2:41 to play, and had been equally valuable as a rebounder.

It was a real hot-shooting game, with the score tied 8 times and the lead changing 16 occasions.

SE Hits 50%
The Knights hit exactly 50 percent, canning 23 of 46 from the field. Northeast, which was also at 50% for 3 quarters wound up with 22 of 49 for 45 percent.

The Rockets led 19-15 at the quarter, 36-31 at the half, but then things got tight.

NE hit a cold spell opening the final quarter and SE moved back into the lead on a 3-point play by John Roux. NE got the lead again, but with Cramer hitting 8 points, the Knights held a 52-51 lead going into the final quarter.

But after SE led 56-55 with 6:39 to play, the fouls on the Knights and Northeast's charity tossing began to take its toll.

Rockets In
Bruce Michaelson hit a basket, Wright put in 5 points, Warren Lyon two and the Rockets were just about in. Southeast lost 4 players — Alan Embury, Roux, Mike Willis and Gary Thomas — in that final period. Wright was the only Rocket to depart.

There were 27 fouls called against the Knights, and 23 on Northeast as both teams played an aggressive brand of ball. SE hit on 17 of 32 of its free throws.

Lesack's 18 points and 15 by Lyon provided plenty of help for the Rockets. Thomas added 12 to Cramer's total for SE, with Roux picking up 9.

Southeast is in action again tonight at Fremont, with its record now 1-1. NE won its first after two opening losses.

MacKay Rally Nets U.S. 2-0 Interzone Lead

Perth, Australia (Saturday) — Barry MacKay, two games away from defeat pulled his big game together today to defeat Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli in their carry-over match and give the United States a 2-0 lead in the interzone Davis Cup tennis finals. The scores were 8-6, 3-6, 6-10, 8-6, 13-11.

Down two sets to one with the 4th set tied at 5-5 when their match was called because of darkness Friday, MacKay lost his service at the start of today's play and then rallied to square the match.

The big American put on a dazzling exhibition, wrapping up the set in 7 minutes. He lost only two points in winning the last two games as he broke the Italian's service at love in the 13th game.

From there on it was a titanic struggle until MacKay wrapped it up by holding his service in the 24th game.

—BRUINS NOTCH 83-73 TRIUMPH—

Balanced Uclans Smother K-State

Los Angeles (AP) — UCLA's balanced scoring proved too much for Kansas State Friday night as the Bruins won 83-73 in an intersectional basketball game.

A crowd of 4,324 witnessed the game, the first half of a double header. In the second game UCLA's cross-town rivals, the Southern California Trojans beat New York University, 86-68.

UCLA had 4 men in double figures, led by sophomore Ron Lawson with 23 points. The Bruins started out cold and didn't score a point the first 5 minutes. But they rallied to take the lead with 6 minutes gone, and never again trailed.

Marquette To Drop Football

... STUDENTS, COACH PROTEST

Milwaukee (AP) — Marquette, the nation's largest Catholic university, dropped football and track Friday in a staggering blow to the role of intercollegiate athletics in the academic program.

The action leaving Marquette with only one major sport, basketball, touched off an angry protest by some 3,000 book-carrying students who emptied classrooms and marched on downtown Milwaukee chanting "We Want Football—We Want Justice."

Faced with a recently announced fund-raising drive for $30 million in a 10-year academic expansion program, the Marquette powers decided the loss of some $50,000 on football this year was too much to take, despite a 78-year tradition as a major independent.

Track, perennially a money loser, will be abolished after the 1960-61 school year. That will enable Marquette to play host again to the Central College Conference outdoor meet, probably for the last time.

The Very Rev. Edward J. O'Donnell, president of Marquette, said in announcing

COP CUTS DOWN

College of the Pacific, a leading West Coast, independent and one of Marquette's foes next fall, also got into the de-emphasis act Friday.

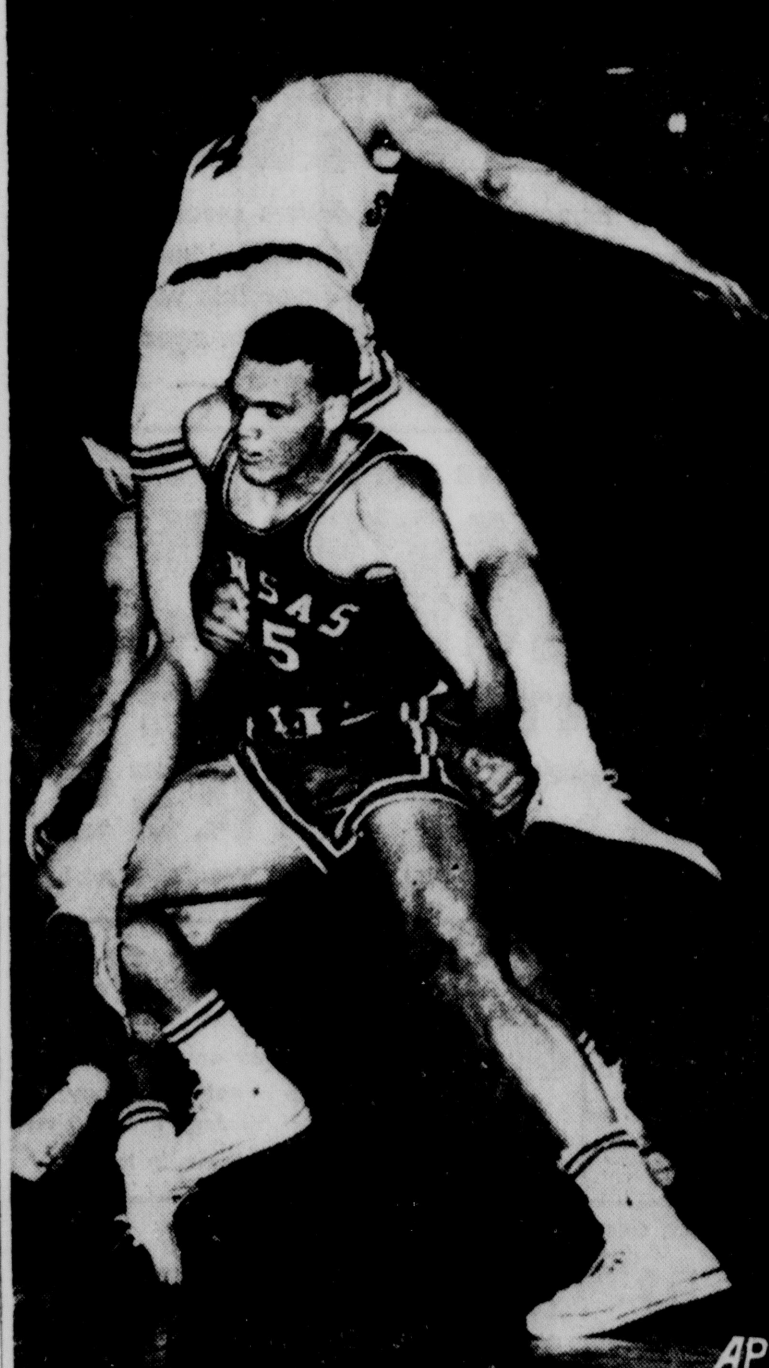

COP aimed to curtail football by dropping its intersectional schedule and cutting scholarships and coaching staffs.

abolishment of football and track that a majority of the athletic board voted the action because of the university's "reasonable unwillingness to accept the financial hardships imposed by these two sports in the light of the other needs of the university."

Big Mistake
Football coach Lisle Blackburn, who will be paid for another year on his contract, said he believed Marquette has made "a tremendous mistake" in dropping the sport.

Logan, Utah, (AP) — Utah State University got its first break going in the second half Friday night and spurred to a 91-78 basketball victory over South Dakota State College.

... ST. JOHN'S WINS ON SPREE

New York (AP) — Aggressive, ball-hawking St. John's turned on a 20-point second period spurge while holding Kansas to only 4 and pulled away to a 66-54 victory Friday night over the Jayhawks.

The game was the first of a Madison Square Garden tripleheader.

Lafayette beat Manhattan 64-59 in the second game and Seton Hall upset Cincinnati 84-76 in the finale. A crowd of 14,037 saw the 3 contests.

Kansas, despite a 29 point performance from Wayne (The Weather Vane) Hightower was a cold shooting team that magnified its plight by sloppy play and poor passing.

St. John's Tony Jackson and Leroy Ellis controlled both boards and rarely gave the Big 8 representatives more than one shot at the basket.

Kansas wound up making only 17 of 68 field goal attempts with Hightower getting 10 of 27.

But the Redmen put things way when, leading 37-36 with 14:12 to go they took off on a 10-0 spurt and a bit later made it 57-40 with about 7 minutes to play. Kansas never recovered.

Jackson, making only 5 of 21 from the field, scored 17 points to lead the Johnnies. He also nabbed 17 rebounds, one more than Hightower.

Willie Hall added 15 for the winners and Ellis got 14. Jerry Gardner got 9 for Kansas while highly touted Bill Bridges didn't score and fouled out early in the second half.

Wesleyan Makes Home Nod Tonight

Nebraska Wesleyan plays its first home game of the already busy basketball season Saturday night when Augustana, S.D., College invades for a 7:30 tilt.

The Plainsmen go into Saturday's non-loop struggle with a record of one win and two losses. The win, over Missouri Concordia, was sandwiched between losses to Lincoln, Mo., University and Morning-side.

Coach Irv Peterson, in his 11th year at the NWU helm, has a good defensive and rebounding club, but it still lacks that good offensive punch.

Peterson will start Jim Munford and Ken Major at the forwards, Dennis Semin at center, and Ron Gillham and Lonnie Ehlers at the guards.

SE Finmen Win 52-34 In Opener

Lincoln Southeast's swimmers scored a 52-34 victory over Omaha Central Friday at Southeast.

In taking 7 of 10 first places the defending state champs scored one of their most lopsided wins over Central in recent years.

Southeast's Tom Nickerson was the meet's only double winner. He defeated Central's captain, Ken Ludgren, in the 200-yard freestyle and came back to beat the Eagle's Jim Bobbitt in the 100.

T-Bolts Capture Opener

Lincoln Star Special
Seward — Despite first game raggedness, the Pius X Thunderbolts tripped Concordia 49-39 in their opener Friday night.

Although the game was inflicted with bad passes and mistakes, the Thunderbolts took a first quarter lead and were never headed.

Pius X sharp shooting shocked the Raiders to a 25-21 halftime deficit as Joe Gaughan and Larry Champoux ripped the cords for 5 and 4 field goals, respectively.

The Bolts hit 21 of 54 field goals and 7-of 11 free throws throughout the game, but they faltered in the rebounding department.

Leading rebounders for the winners were Champoux with 11 and Larry Arth with 9.

Pius Joe Gaughan led scoring with 17 points followed by Cliff Doll of Concordia with 16. Champoux added 15 for the winners and Mark Steffens had 12 for the losers.

Tonight the Thunderbolts travel to Hastings St. Cecilia.

Old Pro Is Stickin' Despite Slim Pickin'

... 49ERS OVER G. BAY IN UPSET OF DAY

STICKIN' WITH PICKIN'
(We're going to forget last week. Right now we have to concentrate on Sunday's game.)
14 seconds and 14 points. Had the joint a-rockin'. 2 1/2 wins and 3 big losses. Gave Old Pro a shockin'. "Quit this game, quit this fight." Was in his mind a-brewin'. But "Do or Die" the fans will cry: No. O.P. is a-doin'.

That's right fans. The Star's Old Pro almost gave up after watching the Baltimore Colts drop his NFL-AFL picking percentage to a miserable (for the O.P.) .600 last week.

O. P. can't figure out whether the Lions are just bad cats, or the Colts do it.

It's a fact that most of Webb's steeds were chewing weeds while the bad cats were touchdowning it on the gridiron.

But, with renewed hopes and many votes of confidence, Old Pro predicts again. Things are getting compli-

Frisco's 49ers to out-ooop Hornung & Co. of Green Bay today. (Hope O.P. doesn't have to say "Oops!")

Moving on to Sunday (and surer ground for the Sage of the Sabbath), Old Pro finds that he has to stick with his favorites—Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, New York and Philadelphia.

Here's the way it shapes up in the NFL Sunday:

Baltimore at Los Angeles—Colt jolt (last week) won't help goat smote Colt, but Colt will jolt.

Chicago at Cleveland—Bettors share the common air that Browns will fare best of this pair. But Bear will fare fair and the win snare. (A bare fact).

Dallas at Detroit—Baltimore couldn't score enough to beat the Lion. It seems a joke that some Cowpoke should even be a-tryin'.

New York at Washington—The Giants' tale they sadly tell is being tied by the Dallas Cowboys. But the Skins are thin, they cannot win, or even say they're bluffers. Philadelphia at Pittsburgh—It's silly for Philly to go willy-nilly for the title in their pocket. But if the Dutchman lifts his arm to cock it, and a Steeler decides to sock it, there'll be a close same on the docket.

Over in the American League where the Old Pro has had bountiful success:

Denver at Los Angeles (today)—Chargers take the crown. Broncos going down.

Boston at Dallas—Vexin' Texan Abner Hornes will show the Patriots the touch-down lanes.

Buffalo at Houston—O.P. is boostin' Houston to catch the Bills a-roostin'.

New York at Oakland—Later Raider.

—BUSINESS, FAMILY NEEDS— Yanks' McDougald Says He's Quitting

New York (P) — Gil McDougald, veteran New York Yankee infielder and one of the most versatile players in baseball, disclosed his retirement Friday after 13 years in the game.

McDougald, who won't be 33 until next May, gave these reasons to the Associated Press:

"Pressure of business" and "desire to spend more time with my family."

McDougald, who Casey Stengel once called "the best second baseman, the best 3rd baseman and the best shortstop in the American League," had been reduced to the status of utility infielder during the last two seasons.

He batted .259 in 119 games last season, hitting 8 home runs and driving in 34 runs.

He appeared in 6 World Series games in October and batted .278, one percentage point higher than his lifetime average.

In 10 years with the Yankees, McDougald played on 8 pennant-winning and 5 world championship teams.

The friendly, freckle-faced California native who now lives in Tenafly, N.J., came up to the Yanks with Mickey Mantle in 1951 and won the AL Rookie of the Year award.

The onetime indispensable Yankee was made expandable last October when his name was included on the New York list of 15 players made available to the two new American League franchises at $75,000 apiece.

Ed Doherty, general manager of the new Washington team, and Fred Haney, general manager of the Los Angeles Angels, confided at the St. Louis baseball meetings earlier this week that Gil would be the No. 1 pick in the player selection.

The fact that McDougald was placed on the "frozen list" has no bearing on his decision to retire. He had made up his mind during the World Series against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Yankees now must consider placing another name on the list of 15 expendables.

K. MAY HAVE NEW COAN INFO

Lawrence, Kan. (P)—Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe said Friday previously unpublished information may be released soon by the University of Kansas on the Bert Coan eligibility case.

Obviously aroused because the Big 8 Conference faculty committee held Kansas' star halfback ineligible, Dr. Wescoe said the university's name "has been so blackened by this ruling that the public may want to know all the facts in the background of this case."

He did not elaborate.

The faculty committee, meeting in Kansas City, ordered the Jayhawks' last two victories over Colorado and Missouri forfeited — a ruling that gave the league championship to Missouri.

The committee held Kansas violated league rules in recruiting Coan.

A. C. Lomborg, KU athletic director, said he was "disappointed grown men would see fit to penalize a boy. I'm also unhappy about losing a football championship in a smoke-filled room."

Coach Jack Mitchell said he does not believe the action will hurt KU's recruiting and that he does not believe it will demoralize his players.

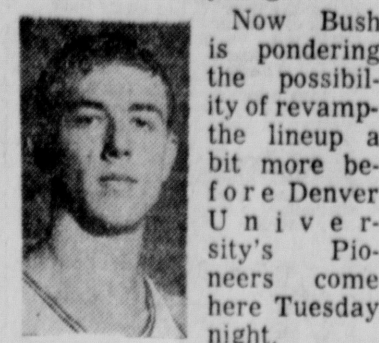

"It did hurt Coan, though," he said. "When we told him about the conference's finding, he asked, 'what will this do to the team's championship?'"

"That was Bert's worry, how it would affect the team. He didn't seem concerned what it did to him. He's quite a boy."

BUSH JUGGLES NU LINEUP:

Bowers May Start Against Denver U.

Nebraska basketball coach Jerry Bush juggled his lineup early this week and it paid off in a 65-60 victory over Utah State Wednesday night.

Now Bush is pondering the possibility of revamping the lineup a bit more before Denver University's Pioneers come here Tuesday night.

Bowers, Lincoln junior, whose rebounding helped turn back highly ranked Utah State, may get the starting call at center.

This would permit moving Tom Russell, Junior College All-America from Independence, Kan., to forward.

Russell's play has been one of the highlights of the early season games.

He hit 6 baskets in 10 attempts against Utah State and hauled down 13 rebounds to lead the Huskers in that vital phase of the game.

The Huskers now own a 2-1 record with victories over

Iowa State Teachers and Utah State and a two-point loss to Wichita.

Denver dropped its first two games to Regis College and face the Air Force Academy tonight.

The Pioneers will have 3 and possibly 4 sophomores in the starting lineup.

Is Survival Worth 8 Cents Person?

By Virgil Falloon
Is the ability to survive an atomic attack worth more than 8 cents?

That's all the states have spent on an average per person during the past 7 years to prepare and plan for survival.

With advance planning and preparation, people can survive radioactive fallout. But they must be prepared.

These were some of the facts brought out in a 3-day school for state legislators at the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization (OCMD) headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich.

Attending from Nebraska were State Sen. Julius Burbach of Crofton, Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, state adjutant general; Secretary of State Frank Marsh, Lt. Col. John Ratliff, training officer, and Joe Lorentzen of the state aeronautics department. State Sen. Michael P. Russell of Omaha was prevented from attending by illness.

"Any Point Vulnerable" "Any point in the United States is vulnerable to attack," Gen. Welch said on his return Friday to Lincoln. "If we are to recover from an atomic attack, the maximum number of persons must survive."

"If you're at ground zero, you won't survive. But it has been demonstrated very clearly that people can survive radioactive fallout if they are prepared."

"Personally, I'm going to have a family shelter," he said. "One in Lincoln and one at the family home in Milford."

Gen. Welch said a new assessment of target areas over the United States has been made by Civil Defense and the Department of Defense.

The results, the general learned at Battle Creek, will probably be released next week.

"Won't Decrease" He predicted that the Lincoln-Omaha area "won't decrease" any in the new assessment of some 90 critical areas.

It can be assumed the Atlas (ICBM) missile complex, as well as the Strategic Air Command base, has increased the military assessment of the Lincoln area, though not a population or industrial target.

The points in Nebraska subject to ground-zero attack are few, but the whole state is vulnerable to radioactive fallout.

Missile sites both within the state and near its borders are potential targets with the result the entire state, regardless of prevailing winds and other facts, is virtually within fallout areas, Gen. Welch explained.

Gen. Welch, who is also the state's Civil Defense director, said that some 1,500 to 2,000 radioactivity monitoring sites are scheduled for Nebraska through federal appropriations.

Monitor Units Additionally, mobile monitoring units probably would be established in cars of the Game Commission, highway department and Safety Patrol, which are radioequipped.

To develop the state's awareness of its need to be prepared, the Adjutant General's Department is preparing a "Cold War Seminar" to be presented over the state to governmental officials and civic leaders.

PE Required For One Year

After voting to abolish compulsory physical education entirely but later asked by the Regents of the University of Nebraska to reconsider, the faculty of the University's college of Arts and Science passed a resolution to require only one year of the course.

Effective next September, the move affects mostly women students since men are required to take 4 semesters of military science now and may use these hours in place of PE. Only conscientious objectors and physically disabled students are deferred from military science and must enroll for PE.

Duffy States Chicago Vote 'Whistle Clean'

Chicago (UPI) — The chief counsel of the Senate elections subcommittee said Friday the contested Chicago presidential election was "clean as a whistle" despite GOP charges of wholesale vote stealing.

James Duffy, winding up his investigation of the Chicago vote for the Privileges and Elections Subcommittee, said he hasn't received any affidavits or seen any evidence that the vote of the nation's second city was stolen for President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"There was no real fraud," Duffy said as he prepared to return to Washington.

Republicans were in angry disagreement. Their counterattacks included:

—a statement by Roy A. Sheaff, minority counsel for the Senate subcommittee that he has collected between 200 and 300 charges of Chicago vote "irregularities."

He said these include the voting of persons not registered, broken seals on ballot boxes, missing ballot boxes and discrepancies in vote counting.

—a double-barreled suit filed in circuit court demanding that the city and county canvassing boards alter the official canvass of the Chicago vote to "correct manifest irregularities" revealed by a discovery recount of 863 paper ballot precincts.

—a blistering charge of "wholesale fraud . . . practiced in the election held in Chicago, Nov. 8, 1960." The charge came from Mrs. Marie H. Suthers, the only Republican member of the Chicago Election Board. She said her Democratic fellow members had reached "a new high in cynical disregard of the rights of the people of Chicago" in their conduct of the recount.

Plane Seizure Rushed To Trial

Havana (AP) — Castro military authorities at Santa Clara suddenly set up a military trial for 5 men and two women accused of conspiring to seize a Cuban airliner near Camaguey the previous night.

The military court quickly convened. Observers on the scene predicted the 3 men accused of using firearms in the takeover attempt would be sentenced to death and executed by a firing squad.

Santa Clara was the scene two months ago of the firing squad execution of 5 rebels. One passenger was killed and 3 crewmen wounded in the dramatic attempt to seize the plane in flight.

Meanwhile, truckloads of Cuban soldiers and militia, carrying mortars and heavy weapons, were reported moving to encircle the Escambray Mountain foothills in what may be the prelude to a general assault on insurgent bands.

Craft Proposes Redistrict Plan

North Platte (AP) — A proposal that in any redistricting of Nebraska's Congressional setup the western two-thirds of the state be designated as one district was advanced at a meeting here by State Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte.

Nebraska, because of realignment due to the last census, is scheduled to lose one of its 4 seats in the House. The Legislature will have to make the realignment of districts.

Craft noted that most of the western senators in the session opening in January will be first-termers and said the west should prepare to present a united front in the Legislature.

There was short discussion of what areas the other two districts might include but no concrete recommendations.

'Door Not Closed' On Air Service

By Harriet Coble
The U.S. Air Force has denied the use of Lincoln Air Force Base as an alternate landing field for commercial jet carriers, but this "does not close the door on future jet service to Lincoln," an Air Force spokesman said.

The Air Force turned down United Air Lines request to use Lincoln as an alternate to Omaha in case of bad weather or other jet landing problems there. This would make the nearest other jet landing facilities at Des Moines and Denver.

The proposed second runway at the Lincoln Air Force Base "would certainly ease the traffic problem," the spokesman said, and jet traffic into Lincoln would probably be favorably considered if the strip is finished.

He noted that no one has applied for commercial jet service directly to Lincoln and the Air Force would consider any future proposal of that type on its own merit.

Authority Interested Leo Beck Jr., chairman of the Lincoln Airport Authority, said that although the authority has not seen any official communication concerning this decision, it is certainly interested in the problem.

He pointed out that Omaha is more often "weathered-in" than Lincoln and the denial of use of the Lincoln facility for jet traffic would be a detriment to first class air travel in the state.

E. J. Williston, local manager for United Air Lines, said that United had asked for the addition of jet aircraft to land at Lincoln and for the use of Lincoln as an alternate landing field for jets scheduled to land at Omaha.

He said permission for both was denied by the U.S. Air Force. He pointed out that any further negotiations concerning jet landing at Lincoln are under the jurisdiction of the Lincoln Airport Authority.

Officials Warn Students Against Touring in Cuba

Washington (AP) — The State Department warned American college students against taking Christmas vacation tours to Cuba.

The department said in a statement that it had received many inquiries about special holiday tours of Cuba being promoted "on behalf of the Castro regime" by the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee."

Officials reported that some of the inquiries indicated a belief that the tours were favored by the State Department.

"It should be clear," the statement said, "that the United States government does not sponsor nor endorse that committee nor its Cuban tours."

The department said a notice issued Sept. 30 advising American citizens to "refrain from travel" to Cuba applies to the tours as well as to any other travel. The Sept. 30 warning said that travel should be undertaken to Cuba only if there were "compelling reasons" — such as might be present in the case of a businessman with interests in Cuba.

State Department officials said the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee" has been promoting 10-day, all-expense tours to Cuba starting Dec. 23. It has offered tours from New York for $220 and tours from Miami for $100.

X15 HOT NOSE UNDER TESTS

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — The X15 rocket ship Friday made its first test hop with the ball-shaped "hot nose" designed for flights to the fringe of space.

Pilot Neil Armstrong, 30, of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was making his second familiarization flight in the X15.

The new nose, replacing the needle-like radio antenna carried on all previous flights, senses the angle of attack and side-slip during critical seconds when the plane is leaving or re-entering the heavy blanket of air surrounding the earth.

Ship Limp To Safety

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (AP) — A tough, little Canadian grain freighter, her hull and superstructure deck cracked in 3 places by an icy Lake Superior storm, limped under her own power Friday night into the comparatively safer waters of Whitefish Bay.

The 250-foot Starbelle, small by Great Lakes standards, sent out a distress signal about noon when cracks developed in both sides of her hull and in her deck as she was battered by high winds and waves in a snowstorm.

At the time, the vessel was near mid-lake traveling down-bound and empty.

Crew Of 20 She carries a crew of 20 and is skippered by Capt. D. H. McFarland.

The Coast Guard cutter Naugatuck met the freighter off Whitefish Point at the northern end of the bay about 130 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie.

Three cutters, an amphibian plane and two helicopters were dispatched by the Coast Guard from bases at Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City, Mich., on northern Lake Michigan when McFarland radioed his vessel was in trouble.

Label Reading Answer To Ag Chemical Misuse

What should be done in Nebraska about the misuse and misapplication of agricultural chemicals?

This question was batted around for a couple of hours Friday by nearly 30 representatives of farmers, chemical manufacturers, state agencies such as the Weed and Seed Division, Game Commission, Aeronautics Department, College of Agriculture, and others.

The general conclusion: Education is needed. People must read the labels and act accordingly.

The informal session was called by the Nebraska Health Department after a series of complaints over the years of the misuse of agricultural chemicals.

Classification

William Rapp, Health Department entomologist, said the complaints could be classified in three categories: the sales in unlabeled or unmarked containers, or in containers carrying food labels; human poisoning as a result of misuse or misapplication; stream pollution, fish kills, and harm to animals.

The participants at the meeting were asked to describe their special problems, and estimate if special assistance is needed—if so, how and by whom.

Only one of those who testified, Robert Martin of Neligh who is in the beekeeping business, believed that new legislation should be enacted.

Kills Game

Martin said strong chemicals, especially parathion, kill not only the insects—including bees—but small game as well.

Passed around at the meeting were affidavits describing incidents near Neligh involving chemicals applied by airplane services.

One, Lyle L. Long, said an aerial applicator paid him $100 for damage to his corn from the spray on another field across the road.

Eugene and Mary Dietz said they felt the effects of 3 days of Parathion applied to a field across the highway, that some chickens were killed, and the young chickens were stunted.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said Parathion and some other chemicals are based on the war-developed "nerve gas," which is one of the most dangerous things ever developed, and should be handled with care.

G. R. Brown of Omaha, representing the chemical industry, said there have been many "scare stories" circulated about the use of agricultural chemicals, but the truth of the matter is both the industry and the federal government are extremely careful in testing and experimenting with the chemicals before allowing general use.

The chemical industry would favor a law to get the labels on the packages, but people must read the labels. For this, education is needed, he said.

He added it costs firms an average of $250,000 to put a new agricultural chemical on the market, mostly because of research.

Robert E. Roselle, associate professor of entomology at the University of Nebraska, agreed that people should be educated so they will read the labels, and added that more basic research in agricultural chemicals is needed.

New Bid Set For Change In Land Use

Pioneer Housing Corp. officials, planning to build an apartment house for senior citizens at 12th and H Sts., announced plans to follow up on a recent City Council action to lower land-use requirements for an apartment building at 13th and J.

John Stewart, attorney for the Pioneer group, said he plans to submit a request similar to that granted the SOS Building Corp. under the revised ordinance calling for less ground space requirements per dwelling unit.

The granting of the Pioneer request, Stewart said, would allow the construction of 100 apartment units at the 12th and H site as compared to the 60 apartments presently allowed.

The council approved the reduction of land-use requirements for apartment buildings in the central business district from 500 sq. ft. to 220 sq. ft. per dwelling unit, following a request by the SOS Corp.

The previous request of Pioneer to have the land use requirements dropped from 500 to 200 sq. ft. was rejected by the city.

Stewart said he expects to file an application for a hearing on the Pioneer request before the city planning commission in the next few weeks.
